RAF Intensifying Attacks
On Germans; Efforts Of
Civilians Cheered

LONDON, July 14—Defying the German luftwaffe to come back to London to do its worst, Prime Minister Winston Churchill today again rejected any truce with Hitlerism and spoke of the day when the Nazi regime may be "torn to pieces" by the German people themselves.

Vitriolic in his condemnation of German air bombings of civilian populations, Churchill nevertheless said that the British people had decided to return blow for blow and that the Royal Air Force, strengthened by American aid, was giving "measure and more than measure" of what had been received.

The RAF is intensifying its attacks on Germany, he said, adding: "We believe it to be in our power to keep this process going on a steadily rising tide, month after month, year after year, until the Nazi regime is either extirpated by us or, better still, torn to pieces by the German people themselves."

Churchill made official previous British predictions that Britain will reject any peace Hitler may offer if and when he conquers Soviet Russia.

Addressing 6,000 London Civil Defense workers in Hyde Park, Churchill said: "We will have no truce with Hitler or with the grizzled gang who did Hitler's wicked work."

Churchill's address for the most part dealt with the vital role played by civilian defense workers in "rescuing" London after each successive attack by the German air force.

He predicted that mass Nazi raids would be resumed shortly and expressed firm conviction that London's 250,000 air raid precautions and fire workers would pitch in again as they have in the past to preserve this city as a vast and modern "center of civilization."

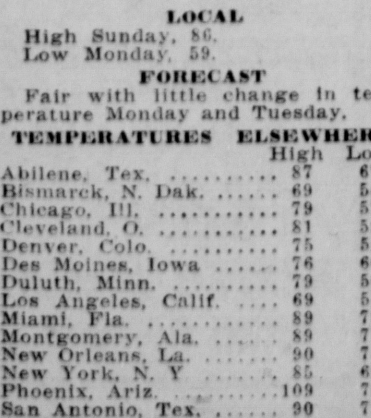

Churchill paid tribute to the "varied, complex, sensitive and severe society" which he said Britain had evolved over the centuries.

"How capable it is," he exclaimed, "of withstanding the most prodigious, the most unexpected and most fractious strains!"

CCC Camp Construction Begins

Six Weeks Will Be Required To Put
Up Quarters

Four laborers, three carpenters and a government inspector began construction work Monday on Circleville's CCC camp site at the end of East Mound Street.

Workers, employees of the Aller Construction Company of Columbus, were laying lines Monday for erecting a building to house bath and shower facilities for enrollees of the camp. The building will be located in the northwest corner of the plot.

Calvin Davis, Cambridge, foreman of the construction crew, said the job should be completed in six weeks with five buildings providing facilities for fifty CCC boys ready for occupancy.

The construction contract calls for a barracks 150 feet by 20 feet, a school 130 feet by 20 feet, officers' quarters 20 feet by 30 feet and a mess hall 120 feet by 30 feet.

In a portion of the mess hall building a recreation room will be constructed with games and reading facilities to occupy the boys in their spare time.

Come From Over State

The boys to be stationed at the camp will be brought here from all over the state and made apprentices in the CCC repair shop at Clinton and Half Avenue. A. H. Melendrop, superintendent at the repair shop, said he had received no notice from the War Department on when to expect the boys, but the camp is expected to be occupied soon after it is completed.

The camp will be under the supervision of regular army officers, and those stationed there will be under the strict discipline of the camp program. The camp is located on the Mrs. O. K. Heise property where the War Department has secured a 5-year lease.

Simultaneously with the start of construction work on the CCC camp came an announcement from employees working on the one-story building at Main and Scioto Streets that the structure was nearing completion and would be ready for occupancy within the next few days.

A few interior light fixtures and some interior painting is all that remains to be done, workers at the building said Monday.

The new structure, built on the property of Harry Sohn, Pickaway Township, includes 50,000 feet of floor space, with a 50 foot frontage on Main Street and 100 foot frontage on Scioto Street.

NAVY MAY SPEND HUGE SUMS FOR MANY NEW SHIPS

WASHINGTON, July 14—The House Naval Affairs Committee by a vote of 13 to 1 today approved an authorization measure permitting the Navy to spend $585,000,000 additional for shipbuilding, ship repairing, and ordnance manufacturing facilities.

The action came as President Roosevelt formally transmitted to Congress his request for new appropriations totalling $3,300,000,000 for the Navy and Maritime Commission.

This includes funds for 566 additional merchant ships "suitable for conversion into navy or military auxiliaries."

Informed congressmen said these ships will be constructed so that they can be converted quickly into auxiliary aircraft carriers for possible use in stepped-up patrol and convoy work.

B. I. S. FUGITIVE HUNTED

Officers from Boys' Industrial School, Lancaster, informed local police Monday of the escape of Charles Bowman, 18, Cincinnati, from the institution Sunday about 10:30 p. m. Lancaster officials told police that Bowman was reported seen Monday about 7 a. m. on Route 188 walking toward Circleville.

Hans and Fritz Stranded!

Captain Weidemann Dr. Hans Borchers

German Diplomatic Team Left Behind By Jap Ship Despite Weidemann's Efforts

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14—Hans and Fritz were definitely perturbed today—but it could not be said they had brought it entirely on themselves.

With all other axis consuls due to sail for home tomorrow from New York, the Nazi diplomatic team of Dr. Hans Borchers, late of New York, and Capt. Fritz Weidemann, of San Francisco, was still stranded by the Golden Gate, after a double last-minute change in plans and despite frantic efforts to halt a Japanese liner in the Pacific.

The predicament of the two top-ranking Nazi consuls, who had been given special permission to sail direct to their new posts in the Orient instead of being put aboard the liner West Point with their colleagues, was due primarily to the British government's delay in granting them a safe-conduct across the Pacific.

After several hours of futile but vigorous international wire-pulling, including trans-continental and trans-Pacific telephone calls, Capt. Weidemann announced glumly early today that he and Dr. Borchers and their families and their aides will sail from San Francisco July 31 aboard the Tatu Maru.

Their exact status until then was undetermined pending word (Continued on Page Two)

AMERICA FIRST GROUPS DEMAND OUSTER OF KNOX

CHICAGO, July 14—Removal from office of Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox was demanded today by representatives of 118 chapters of the America First Committee, who charged in a resolution that the secretary had violated his oath of office by urging that the American navy intervene in the European war.

The resolution was introduced by St. Louis Chairman Joseph Forshaw at a committee meeting in Chicago presided over by National Chairman Gen. Robert E. Wood. It stated:

"Whereas the Constitution of the United States provides that congress has the sole power to declare war; and

"Whereas the secretary of the navy, in public utterances, has advocated that the American navy intervene in the present war now;

"Whereas, such intervention of the American Navy would constitute actual and open war without and

"Whereas, by his solemn oath of office, the secretary of the navy has sworn to uphold the Constitution of the United States,

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that we, the representatives of chapters of the America First Committee from San Diego, Cal., to Boston, Mass., do condemn and repudiate the unauthorized utterances and conduct of the secretary of the navy, and by reason of his outright advocacy of undeclared war, in defense of the Constitution, do declare it to be the sense of this group that the secretary of the navy is no longer a fit person to hold his present high office and should be removed from that office."

CIO PRESIDENT SUFFERS COLLAPSE DURING GAME

PITTSBURGH, July 14—CIO President Philip Murray was in Mercy Hospital for observation today after having collapsed during a badminton game last night.

No immediate information was available on his condition. Dr. W. L. Mullins, attending at the hospital, said merely "no information."

FIVE DROWNING VICTIMS

Columbus Police Officer
Dies As Plane Falls
During Air Show

By International News Service
Nearly a score of Ohioans died violently over the week end as a result of auto accidents or drownings.

A single grade crossing crash near Port Clinton which claimed the lives of five Negro WPA workers boosted the traffic toll to at least 12; at least five were drowned, and a Columbus policeman was killed when his plane crashed during an air show.

Five Negro WPA workers were killed when the auto in which they were returning from work was struck by a New York Central train at Lacarne station, near Port Clinton. They were Cornelius Caldwell, Edward Cunnings, Charles E. Daniels, Thomas R. Ellis and David A. Ferguson.

A two-car crash on U. S. Route 42 northeast of Mansfield killed Mrs. Hilda Greenwald, 32, of Cleveland, and injured six others. Thomas Wilson, 31, of Ironton, maintenance foreman at the Stony Creek CCC Camp, died in a Chillicothe hospital of injuries received in a downtown crash.

Two persons died as the result of traffic accidents in the Akron area—Larry W. Albertson, 30, a Cleveland sheet metal worker, killed when his car rolled down an embankment, and John Sproh, 60, of Warren, struck by a hit-skip driver as he walked on Route 176.

Harold Leroy Smith, 23, of Cincinnati, was killed when the auto in which he was riding struck a pole near Newport, Ky.

Ralph A. Beight, 55, of Dayton, was killed when struck by an auto as he stepped from behind a parked truck near Fremont.

Two Drown In Erie

Two persons drowned in Lake Erie 1,000 feet from the shore at Cleveland when the boat in which four persons were riding capsized. They were Cooper Boyd, 46-year-old engineer, and his wife, Margaret, 45. Two others clung to the craft and were rescued.

Twenty-eight-year-old Fred Myers failed to come up after a dive in Lake Vesuvius, eight miles north of Ironton.

Lawrence Grumley, 48, of Grove City, near Columbus, drowned in a gravel pit while on a swimming party with a group of fellow workers from the Curtiss-Wright plant.

'SUICIDE PACT' CLAIM NAZIS OF NEW ACCORD

BERLIN, July 14—The Anglo-Russian military aid agreement was termed a "suicide pact" by the Wilhelmstrasse today.

The pact merely assures the signatories that one will not die without the other, it was said.

With regard to Anglo-Russian pledges against a separate peace, a spokesman said:

"Let it be emphatically clear we have launched a fight to the death of Bolshevism. We will not let up until Bolshevism has been forever annihilated and exterminated in Europe.

"So far as British aid is concerned, we hope it gets into the front-line quickly, so that our booty may be increased.

In Doghouse?

MARSHAL GOERING

LONDON, July 14—Britain eagerly hoped for substantiation of a Moscow radio broadcast claiming that Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, No. 2 Nazi leader and commander of the luftwaffe, has "fallen into disgrace and has been sent to a concentration camp."

"According to well informed Stockholm circles," said the Russian announcer, "Goering and Hitler violently quarrelled on the eve of the Nazi attack on Russia. Goering argued that the luftwaffe was unfit for the new campaign and refused to take responsibility for the new drive."

"Hitler became frenzied, calling Goering a coward, and declared that he himself would take over command of the air force. Disappearance of Goering's name from the German press tends to prove the veracity of the report.

"It is rumored that Heinrich Himmler (Gestapo chief) insisted that Goering be put into a concentration camp."

WARFARE IN SYRIA NEAR END

Peace Agreement To Be
Signed At Conference
In Jerusalem

NEW YORK, July 14—The British Broadcasting Company today announced an official German news agency report from Vichy stating that a Syrian armistice agreement was signed this morning, according to a New York pickup by CBS.

CAIRO, July 14—All hostilities in Syria were suspended today as British and French officials met at Acre, Jerusalem, for final consideration of armistice terms. An agreement is expected to be signed shortly.

The Acre meeting was announced in a communique issued by the British middle east high command. It said there was no change in the situation in Abyssinia and Libya.

HELSINKI—Thirty Russian planes bombed the Finnish town of Borgas during the night, injuring several persons and damaging seven houses, according to an official announcement, which said five Russian planes were shot down.

BERLIN—Germany today officially denied Soviet charges that Reich forces have used "poisonous substances" in the Russo-German conflict. A spokesman warned, however, that employment of such measures by the Russians would bring the "sharpest counter-measures."

ITALY TO PERMIT U. S. CITIZENS RIGHT TO SAIL

ROME, July 14—A general order authorizing the ministry of the interior to grant permission for Americans to leave Italy was issued today.

It is expected that official consideration of specific cases will begin the end of this week.

Early Occupation Of Kiev, Ukraine's Chief
City, Predicted By Reich; Planes Smash

MANNERHEIM LEADS DRIVE IN NORTH

Reports From Front Indicate Moscow's
Defense Crumbling; Rookies Used

BERLIN, July 14—While military spokesmen claimed German penetration of Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, and predicted its early occupation, the Nazi high command today announced opening of a gigantic Finnish offensive on both sides of Lake Ladoga.

Personally commanded by Field Marshal Baron Carl Von Mannerheim, chief of the Finnish Defense Council, the drive was aimed at Leningrad and was designed to tie in with a German offensive against the great Russian citadel from the south.

Nazi mechanized units pushing toward Leningrad are rapidly gaining ground, military quarters said, with several main Red bunkers already destroyed.

The German advance beyond the Dnieper is proceeding on a broad front, it was said. Soviet attempts to make a last stand from trenches in the Vitebsk region were said to have been frustrated with heavy Russian losses.

The German luftwaffe inflicted extremely heavy losses on retreating defenders of the Stalin line in the Vitebsk region, it was announced. Railway establishments at Leningrad and Smolensk also were heavily bombed.

Kiev Bombarded

Military objectives at Kiev were said to be under constant heavy bombardment. Warehouses were set afire and the waterworks destroyed with direct hits, it was said.

General staff plans had called for the Finnish offensive to get under way when the German drive was sufficiently far advanced to permit Leningrad to be enclosed in the fangs of a huge pincer movement.

The Finns will handle the northern part of the claw while German troops operate east and west from the Lake Peipus region.

Except for announcing start of the Finnish offensive, the high command merely said that all operations on the eastern front were proceeding "according to plan."

But military spokesmen, resuming their practice of amplifying and explaining brief headquarters communiques, said that all reports from the front indicated that the whole gigantic Soviet army was gradually crumbling.

Raw Rookies Used

German troops are now encountering Red divisions composed of nothing more than "broken remnants," it was said. Raw rookies are making their appearance in the Soviet lines and the number of desertions is increasing steadily, spokesmen asserted.

The same symptoms that appeared before collapse of the French armies a little over a year ago are becoming evident, it was said (Continued on Page Two)

40,000 WILL GO BACK TO PLACES IN TWO PLANTS

DETROIT, July 14—Approximately 40,000 employees of the Briggs Manufacturing Co. and the Chrysler Corporation return to work today and tomorrow after a UAW-CIO local ratified an agreement ending a strike at the National Automotive Fibres Co.

The Briggs and Chrysler workers were sent home last week because of a shortage of upholstery from the strike bound fibres plant.

under way against London last September.

"I must admit I feared greatly the injury to our public utility services, the ravages of fire, the displacement of life and the stoppage of work, the epidemics of serious diseases or even pestilence," he said.

"But there was one thing which I nor anyone else ever had any doubt—the courage, the unflinching, unconquerable grit and stamina of the Londoners, which showed themselves from the very outset.

"Without that, all would have failed. Upon that rock we all stood unconquerable."

Comparing London to a "prehistoric monster into whose armored hide showers of arrows can be shot in vain," Churchill announced great strengthening of the capital's defenses and air raid shelters and defied the Luftwaffe to come back in force again.

"If the lull is to end and the storm is to renew itself, London will be ready," he said.

"London will not wince. London can take it again. We ask no favors and no compassion from the enemy . . . if tonight the people of London were asked to cast their votes as to whether a convention should be entered into to stop the bombing of all cities, an overwhelming majority would cry:

"No! We will mete out to the Germans the measure and more than the measure they have meted out to us."

The prime minister gave his hearers the satisfaction of knowing that present British bombing attacks on Germany are heavier than Nazi raids and that the RAF will keep pounding until "horrible tyranny is broken down." He paid tribute to aid from the United States and said:

"We are bombing the enemy at a heavier rate, in discharge of tons of bombs, than in any monthly period the enemy bombed us."

"That is only a beginning. We shall continue the process on a growing scale until we have beaten down the horrible tyranny . . .

"The enormous advance of the United States toward making a contribution to British resistance is thoroughly effective and was largely influenced by the conduct of Londoners in standing up against enemy bombardment . . .

"I expect that before very long the enemy will renew his attacks on us."

ROOSEVELT AND AIDES TALK OF SOLDIERS' U S E

WASHINGTON, July 14—President Roosevelt today conferred with the outstanding legislative leaders and military experts on Capitol Hill in what was expected to be the forerunner of an immediate congressional drive to extend the service of draftees beyond the one-year limit and life restrictions against sending American troops anywhere in the world.

Also at the meeting was Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, who has recommended to Secretary of War Stimson that this action be taken. Both could be accomplished by amendments to the Draft Act, which now limits service of conscripts to one year and says that army troops cannot be used outside the Western Hemisphere.

LITTLE CHATS ON PUBLIC NOTICES

REPORTS TO STOCKHOLDERS

It is common practice in business to keep the stockholders informed periodically as to the condition of the company. The reasons for this are plain: the stockholders are the owners of the business and they have a right to be kept posted on matters of common interest. No one questions this right or the soundness of the practice.

In various ways the same principle is applied to public affairs. Here it is the public generally and the voters particularly who are the "stockholders" of government in all its phases and activities.

If it is sound and necessary to acquaint the stockholders of a private business with the state of its affairs at regular intervals, it is vastly more important that the public be kept informed as to the conduct and condition of the public business. This is especially true in matters of important public trust and, in particular, where public funds are concerned.

Among the most common but important forms of official advertising in virtually all states are the fiscal reports of school boards, city, county and state treasurers, fiduciary officers, and many others. The Public Notice appearing in the newspapers is the best means of making such information a matter of wide general record. The mounting tax burden and the increasing demands upon government make it more important than ever that the statutory provisions for keeping the public informed on public business, especially finances, be fully observed.

STOCKHOLM — Dispatches from Oslo said today that all but three of Norway's provincial governors sent their resignations collectively to the Nazi governor for Norway, Joseph Terboven, explaining they could not tolerate the control exercised by the German-sponsored Quisling regime. Fifteen provincial governors signed the resignation document.

NEW YORK — Returning the S. S. President Garfield to New York after her 14-day maiden round-the-world voyage, Captain J. E. Murphy today reported that his ship had been stopped 400 miles northeast of Honolulu by the armed Canadian cruiser Prince Robert. A boarding party removed four German aviators who were on their way home from South America.

NEW YORK—Designed to accommodate 225 passengers, the 9,500-ton Spanish liner Villa de Madrid was in New York today with 617 passengers, the majority refugees from German-occupied countries in Europe. Only two of the passengers were Americans. The vessel sailed from Barcelona June 21.

Luggage Ready

Literally at the eleventh hour yesterday, with more than 100 pieces of Nazi luggage loaded aboard the Japanese liner Yawata Maru, Wiedemann received a phone call from his embassy in Washington, ordering him not to sail unless he had official assurances from the British government that he would not be taken off the vessel by a British man-of-war in mid-ocean.

So the diplomatic luggage was put ashore, and the Yawata Maru sailed with the Nazi storerooms empty. Shortly after the vessel had passed out the Golden Gate, the delayed safe-conduct came from the British government.

Then began a frantic several hours in which Wiedemann went to fantastic lengths to get on his way to the Orient.

He tried unsuccessfully to call the Yawata Maru back to port. He tried to charter an amphibian plane from Pan American Airways, but it was not available. He asked the Navy to provide a destroyer to take the Nazi party out to the Yawata, but this could not be done without authorization from Washington and considerable red tape.

He radioed the Yawata's captain, asking that the vessel (now 90 miles out) be stopped. The captain, in effect, replied: "So sorry."

Finally, he telephoned the NYK line's headquarters in Tokyo and succeeded in having the vessel stopped temporarily, but his efforts failed to locate any means of transportation out to her.

SALES TAX EXAMINER WILL ASSIST VENDORS

Robert J. Gregg, sales tax examiner, has set up a schedule by which he will assist Pickaway County vendors in their semi-annual sales tax reports for the January-June period.

He will be at the First National Bank in New Holland July 15 from 8:30 a. m. to noon; at the Ashville Banking Co., July 16 from 8:30 a. m. to noon, and at the Pickaway County treasurer's office in Circleville from 8:30 to noon and 1 p. m. to 4 p. m. on July 17, 18, 21 and 22.

Vendors are requested to take records of gross and exempt sales, stamp purchases, and inventories of unused stamps on hand at beginning and close of period. Reports must be filed not later than July 31 in order not to be subject to the $1 a day penalty for late filing.

to Detroit where they started the Fisher Body Company with a capitalization of $50,000 in 1908. CASH SPENDING TOTAL SOARING

WASHINGTON, July 14—With nearly three months of the 1941 fiscal year gone, cash spending for national defense has neared the half billion dollar mark.

A study of treasury figures showed that since July 1 a total of $488,307,234 has been handed out for naval and military protection of the nation.

While this figure loomed small against the total of contracts awarded to provide guns, airplanes, fighting boats, etc., officials declared that it actually represents acceleration in doling out cash, and that spending volume will take bigger jumps within 60 days.

The navy is using money faster than the army for the present, the Treasury figures showed, tallying $268,358,218, compared to the army total expended for the fiscal year of $219,140,182. The remainder of the money handed out came from the special blanket fund voted President Roosevelt to distribute as he finds best in order to speed up the big defense program. Already $808,833 of this fund has been spent, while nearly $50,000,000 has been allocated to be handed out as fast as feasible to provide housing facilities for increased military forces.

Pace of Navy Spending

Navy spending has hit a pace of approximately $125,000,000 a month, as of latest figures, while army spending has climbed to an estimated $100,000,000 monthly. During September, the navy spent $62,430,859, and the army $48,524,833.

Defense spending, the figures disclosed, is already running about twice the normal peacetime rate. Last year on this date the navy had actually spent $158,795,957 for the fiscal year, the army $121,844,258.

For the present, defense spending is carried in the general Treasury statement and consequently figures in the current public debt of $44,061,821,728, but later will be carried separately. The public debt is approaching the limit provided by law for general indebtedness, and were the military spending carried in the general statement in the future, the debt limit would be reached.

Treasury officials said that when it was necessary to utilize the special $4,000,000,000 additional of public debt permitted by Congress specifically for national defense, military spending would be allocated to this category. This action would of course, remove defense spending from the general public debt figure and give more borrowing leeway for non-defense expenditures.

STRONGEST MAN DIES

NEW YORK, July 14—Warren L. Travis, 66, who for 26 years went under the circus billing as the "world's strongest man," was dead today. He collapsed and died early yesterday at the conclusion of his regular weight-lifting show at Coney Island.

NAZI AND FINN PINCER MOVES ON LENINGRAD

said. Marshal Semeon Timoshenko, Soviet chief of staff, yesterday issued an order of the day threatening imposition of the death sentence on any Red soldier retreating in the face of the enemy. This order, German sources said, recalled the despairing last order of French General Maxime Weygand to "hold or die."

Red tanks captured during the last 48 hours were operated by untrained crews, it was said, while in the area south of Leningrad parachute units, trained for highly specialized work, were found assigned to ground fighting.

Persistent reports in Berlin that the Stalin regime had abandoned Moscow for Ekaterinberg in the Ukraine were revived, with additional rumors that all "left-overs" of the government had left the capital for safety in the Urals. Foreign diplomats still in Moscow were reported summoned to the Kremlin and advised to depart.

German "blitz" troops are storming after the retreating Russian army forces like a "raging gale," one spokesman asserted.

The Russians, according to a spokesman, are being lashed into a complete route by the German forces moving against Moscow.

On the Ukraine front, it was asserted, Kiev was entered this morning and "probably will be occupied tonight."

Russians Report Heavy Raids On Romanian Cities

MOSCOW, July 14—Heavy blows by the Red air force during the night were announced by the Soviet high command today in a communique which told of bombing attacks on the Romanian cities of Jassy, Roman and Ploesti.

The new announcement said no large-scale land operations occurred during the night.

"The air force during the night continued its destructive operations against enemy aircraft and airdromes, inflicted blows against motorized units of the enemy and bombed Jassy, Roman and Ploesti."

"Yesterday 94 enemy planes and 12 Soviet planes were destroyed."

The figure of 94 German planes destroyed yesterday revised a previous announcement which said 131 German planes were shot down or destroyed on the ground during Sunday's operations.

Spurred by the new Anglo-Russian military alliance, Soviet forces were said by the earlier communique to have halted and at some places thrown back massive German offensives against Leningrad, Moscow and Kiev.

Heroism Praised

The official Moscow radio paid tribute to the heroism and gallantry of the British people and their armed forces by saying:

"There is no doubt that the united effort of two great people will put an end to Fascism which has sowed war and death throughout the world."

"The U. S. S. R. unanimously welcomes the Anglo-Soviet agreement."

On the central front, a war communique said, the Soviets recaptured two towns—Johin and Rogatshev—which had been overrun by the German invaders.

On the northern Pskov sector of the Stalin line, the communique stated, German tank and motorized forces attempting to break through to Leningrad were "held up" and "in places repulsed" with heavy losses to German soldiers and equipment.

Russian tank counter-attacks and artillery fire, supported by continuous aerial bombardments, were said to have shattered the Nazi drives in the Vitebsk region toward Moscow and in the Novograd Volinsk area toward Kiev.

STOPS PUBLICATION

SAN FRANCISCO—Bowling to changes in public tastes and declining revenues, the historic old weekly, "The News Letter and Wasp," has discontinued publication after 85 years. Early writings of such famous literary figures as Jack London, Mark Twain, Ambrose Bierce, Bret Harte, Frank Norris, Wallace Irwin and Gertrude Atherton first appeared on its pages.

1,000 LIMA, O. CIGAR MAKERS GO ON STRIKE

LIMA, O., July 14—A strike of approximately 1,300 employees of the Deisel-Wemmer-Gilbert Cigar Company's Lima factory was called today by a CIO union which said negotiations for collective bargaining had broken down. Union spokesmen said the walkout also would affect the company's Detroit factory.

The workers were called from their machines at 8:30 a. m., by Samuel Runyan, organizer for the United Electric, Radio and Machine Workers of America.

Ten days ago the cigar machine workers were called out but returned to work after about two hours.

LAURA A. VAN FOSSEN DIES IN TARLTON HOME

Mrs. Laura A. Van Fossen, 62, wife of Joseph Van Fossen, died Sunday at 3 p. m. at her home in Tarlton. She was a daughter of Barney and Rebecca Gatton Ankrum.

Survivors besides the husband are the following children, Luther, Barnard, Amos, Ida and Ralph, all of Tarlton.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 1 p. m. in the Tarlton Methodist Church, the Rev. S. N. Root officiating. Burial will be in Tarlton Cemetery by the Deffenbaugh Funeral Home. By request of the family the body will not be viewed at any time.

CHINCHBUGS ARE NOT SO BOTHERSOME IN COUNTY

Chinchbugs, which are reported to be infesting wheat and corn fields in certain sections of Ohio, have caused no noticeable damage in Pickaway County so far this season, County Agricultural Agent F. K. Blair said Monday.

With the completion of the wheat harvest, chinchbugs move from the wheat into the corn fields, living from the sap in the corn stalks.

A creosote barrier along the side of the corn field adjacent to the wheat field is the best protection against chinchbugs, the county agent said.

SECOND DRAFT LOTTERY SET FOR THURSDAY

Sequence Numbers Will Be Assigned To 40,511 Ohio Youths Of 21

GOBLE EXPLAINS PLAN

New Registrants May Get Early Service Under Federal Plan

Sequence numbers for 40,511 young men who registered in Ohio July 1 will be drawn in the Second National Selective Service Lottery to be held in Washington, D. C., Thursday evening, July 17.

The sequence numbers will determine the order in which these new registrants will be integrated among the old registrants who have order numbers larger than the last selectee of their local board who was involuntarily inducted before midnight, June 30.

"For an example," Director C. W. Goble of State Selective Service said, "if a local board should happen to have 10 new registrants and 100 old registrants on its list whose order numbers follow that of the last involuntary inductee as of midnight June 30, then one new registrant would be placed after each group of 10 old registrants."

Any induction made after midnight June 30, will be ignored in the integration of new registrants among old cases, the director stated.

Lottery Starts At 7

The lottery, which will determine the sequence in which new registrants will be integrated among old ones, will be held in Departmental Auditorium, Washington, D. C., at 7 p. m. Thursday.

A set of serial numbers, each preceded by the letter "S", from "S-1" to include the largest number used by any local board in the country in assigning serial numbers to July 1st registrants, will be drawn by lots. Approximately 800 numbers will be drawn, according to the information given Ohio headquarters.

The serial numbers in the order they are drawn in the lottery will constitute a master list to be used by local boards in assigning "Sequence Numbers" to their July 1st registrants, in this manner:

The registrant in each local board area whose serial number first appears on this second master list will be given "Sequence Number 1" in his area; the registrant whose serial number is next closest to the top will receive "Sequence Number 2," and so on until each July 1st registrant has a sequence number.

Explanation Given

When sequence numbers have been assigned to all new registrants, the local boards will assign each of these registrants an order number to be determined by integrating them among the old registrants. This means that the new registrant with Sequence No. 1 in his local board area will receive the lowest order number assigned to his group, and the registrant with the largest sequence number will receive the highest order number for the same group.

IMMELL LEADS AAA WILL HEAR MOVE FOR LAKE QUOTA PROTEST

400 Acre Recreation Spot Near Yellowbud Urged By Sportsman

A plan to turn 400 acres of farm land near Yellowbud into a lake for Pickaway and Ross County sportsmen is being considered by sportsmen in both counties. The plan has been submitted to state conservation officials for investigation.

The plan presented to the Ross County Conservation Council last week by Robert Immell of Yellowbud, calls for flooding of 400 acres of lowland surrounded by a ridge of hills.

Mr. Immell told Ross County sportsmen that little construction would be required after a 140-yard levee across Yellowbud Creek had been built. Cost of the project has been estimated at $80,000, of which $50,000 would be spent for the purchase of the land.

In case the plan is adopted, the lake will be named Lake Rausenberger, in honor of the late E. H. Rausenberger of Circleville, widely known sportsman as a member of the Ohio Sportsmen and the American Crow Hunters Association. At the time of his death, Mr. Rausenberger willed an $80,000 trust fund to the State Conservation Commission and sportsmen hope a part of this fund may be obtained for the project.

The plan has not been officially presented to the Pickaway County Farmers' and Sportsmen's Association, although many of the members have reported favorably on the idea.

James L. Groce Wins Sergeant's Rank At Fort Ord

James L. Groce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Groce, 447 East Main Street, has completed his first year in Uncle Sam's Air Corps, being located at Fort Ord, Monterey, California. During his year he has gained much air corps experience and has won promotion to the rank of sergeant.

He has informed his parents that his first vacation will be during the Christmas holidays when a month's furlough will permit him to return home for a while.

Men who have satisfactorily served three or more years in the Regular Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard, are not liable for Selective Service training, it was pointed out Monday by Lieut. Col. C. W. Goble, state Selective Service director.

He cited a recent amendment to the Selective Training and Service Act, which also exempts, under certain conditions, men who have satisfactorily served in reserve components of these branches of the nation's armed forces.

The original Selective Training and Service Act provided such exemption only for men who have served in the Regular Army, National Guard or Reserve Corps, the director explained, and a number of registrants who now are exempted by the amendment have been inducted into the Army. These men, he said, may be discharged on application made through their company commanders to the Adjutant General's Office of the War Department.

Byron Gulick, of Ashville, who has been at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Beckett for the last several days on a furlough from Camp Shelby, Miss., says that his work is mostly mechanical, being employed in a garage, it being his duty to keep big trucks in operating order. Gulick has no complaint to make about living quarters and food. The outfit's cook, who is from Dayton, is a full-blooded Indian, and a past master at the culinary art. Gulick will be home until Wednesday.

Men who have satisfactorily served three or more years in the Regular Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard, are not liable for Selective Service training, it was pointed out Monday by Lieut. Col. C. W. Goble, state Selective Service director.

He cited a recent amendment to the Selective Training and Service Act, which also exempts, under certain conditions, men who have satisfactorily served in reserve components of these branches of the nation's armed forces.

The original Selective Training and Service Act provided such exemption only for men who have served in the Regular Army, National Guard or Reserve Corps, the director explained, and a number of registrants who now are exempted by the amendment have been inducted into the Army. These men, he said, may be discharged on application made through their company commanders to the Adjutant General's Office of the War Department.

Byron Gulick, of Ashville, who has been at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Beckett for the last several days on a furlough from Camp Shelby, Miss., says that his work is mostly mechanical, being employed in a garage, it being his duty to keep big trucks in operating order. WINGS OVER THE WORLD

MANY people wondered if the President had lost his mind when, last year, he called for 30,000 army planes. It was argued that so vast an air armament couldn't be produced or used. But events and compulsions have moved fast, and the impossible is accomplished and new impossibilities are tackled.

So now the airplane industry in this country is asked to turn out airplane motors at the rate of 150,000 a year. It will probably be done, too. That doesn't mean 150,000 airplanes a year, but 50,000 new planes with three motors for each.

More and more rapidly armies now take to the air. They supplant not only land forces but sea forces. Ships are sunk more and more by air bombers. This may soon be the dominant mode of fighting, with land forces used for occupation when hostile ships and armies have been blasted out of the way.

FRIENDLY FLAGS

THE British people this year celebrated the Fourth of July along with Americans. In England and the dominions there were thousands of American flags flown. In the heart of London the Stars and Stripes were raised with the British Union Jack.

Lord Beaverbrook, who beside helping to run the war is editor of the London Express, made this statement: "We have made up our minds that after tomorrow every one of our readers is going to know just what American Independence Day means. We are running a story about it on Page 1 together with a big American flag."

We can't quite get used to the idea, but it's decent of them. And it does seem to bring more reality into the movement, urged by many people in both countries, for closer union of some kind after the war.

ALASKA ROAD

SOME people are getting excited about that proposed road from Puget Sound to Alaska. Especially Anthony J. Dimond, Alaska delegate in Congress. It isn't merely a matter of interest to the Alaskans, either. We have established big army and navy bases in that Territory, outposts guarding our continent against possible assaults from Asia. That might mean either Japan or Russia, according to time and circumstance, though at present there is no worry about Russia.

The trouble is that the highway has to be built on Canadian soil, and the Dominion, while apparently agreeing in principle, is slow about starting. That is understandable. Canada is making a huge war effort in Europe. Even so, it would be reassuring to both Canada and the States to get the job started.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

JOHN LEWIS SEEKING RETURN

WASHINGTON—More than one CIO leader who attended the so-called special legislative conference last week left Washington convinced that its real purpose was to trot out a trial balloon for the return of John L. Lewis as CIO president.

The political undertones of the pow-wow were as thick as molasses. Lewis' "palace guard" of left-wingers were in complete charge of all the arrangements. Prominent among those present were the heads of CIO Industrial Union Councils, many of them—leftists and the backbone of Lewis' political support in the CIO.

Significantly, although the "palace guard" put on an extra crew to handle publicity for the meeting, no list of those attending was issued. Such a list would have shown a predominance of leftist elements present.

Throughout the meeting, Lewis acted like a man whose hat was in the ring. He made a speech that was purely political and slapped backs in the best campaign manner.

If Lewis is out for the presidency, it is certain that Phil Murray will be the first to make way for him. No CIO leader has any doubt that Murray would withdraw at the drop of the hat. Lewis wouldn't even have to ask him.

TWO SPEECHES

Murray also made a speech, and the contrast between his and Lewis' was startling.

Lewis delivered a rabble-raising harangue in his heaviest Shakespearean manner. Rumbling exclamations and with basso profundo theatricals, he blasted Roosevelt for "anti-union" legislation, scorched OPM Associate Director Sidney Hillman as a "strike breaker," hit Will Davis, chairman of the Defense Mediation Board which sided with the United Miners in the recent wage dispute, and inferentially threatened the Garment Workers, Textile Workers, and Rubber Workers, which have militantly supported the President, with ouster from the CIO.

Chairman Davis has evidently joined Roosevelt and Hillman on Lewis' pet hate list. And when "Old Bushybro" hates, he hates.

The diatribe drew a noisy ovation, led by Mike Quill, leftist head of the Transport Workers, and the "palace guard." But it also brought swift and sizzling counterblasts from J. S. Potofsky of the Garment Workers, R. J. Thomas and Richard Frankenstein of the Auto Workers, and S. H. Dalrymple of the Rubber Workers. Potofsky made Lewis back down on Hillman to the extent of explaining that he had nothing against him personally but had criticized him in the role of a public official.

Murray's speech was in a wholly different vein from Lewis'. There were no dramatics, personalities, or threats. He discussed the need for more active labor representation in defense leadership and his plan for getting it. The talk was dignified and statesmanlike, and was given a cordial hand. But Quill and the "palace guard" remained in their seats and did no whooping up.

DIET AND HEALTH

Safer To Reduce Slowly

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Several of my female acquaintances have asked me my opinion of the Harper's Bazaar Nine-Day Wonder Diet revised by Elinor Guthrie Neff. As I analyze it, these are the conclusions:

For breakfast there is always every day half a grapefruit and a cup of black coffee. The grapefruit is about 50 calories and the coffee none.

At lunch there are two tomatoes (about 25 calories apiece), and a chicken sandwich on rye bread with no butter (about 150 calories).

For dinner there is a good-sized steak, how many calories that is, is hard to say because the amount of the steak and especially the amount of fat is not specified. Nothing is said about removing the fat on the steak, which should be done for a real reducing diet. But the steak is at least 150 calories. Besides the steak, you get a stalk of celery (5 calories), tomato and endive salad with no dressing (25 calories) and another half grapefruit (50 calories).

The day's total is 480 calories which should reduce anyone. A reducing diet of 1000 calories a day is in my opinion safer. I don't think anyone should go for any length of time on reducing diets of 300 to 500 calories.

Short Reducing Period

Furthermore, nine days seems to me too short for satisfactory and healthy reduction. It has been proved that when caloric intake is suddenly reduced, one does not lose weight gradually; the weight may remain the same for a week or more, and then there is a sudden water loss and a good deal of weight is lost in one day. That is why I prefer a three-week period or a forty-day Lenten period.

The authors of the nine-day wonder-diet say that meat is the magic that does it. While eating meat you will never feel weak, so they say. The high protein steps up the body metabolism and burns up fat. Of course it is perfectly true that meat has what is called high specific dynamic energy in body economy, but whether it burns fat or not is another question. Meat, however, was the staple of the Hollywood diet, popular a few years ago.

Well Distributed Vitamins

The diet contains vitamins well distributed, which is a fundamental requirement of any diet. There is Vitamin A in carrots, B in eggs and rye bread, C in tomatoes and grapefruit, D in cheese (?), E in lettuce. Meat itself must have a lot of vitamins, even some we don't know about yet.

I think the diet could justly be criticized on the basis of monotony. Grapefruit and coffee every day for breakfast—a resourceful housekeeper could think of something else than that. And in the first day's diet which I outlined above there was grapefruit also for dessert for dinner, and two tomatoes for lunch and one in the salad for dinner. That is plunging pretty hard on grapefruit and tomatoes.

However these are minor matters and easy to fix. Substitute any citrus fruit for grapefruit and any green vegetable for the tomato and it works just as well. The nine-day wonder-diet will certainly reduce you provided you follow it to the letter.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. D. B.—"I notice that whenever my baby (a little over a month old) cries very hard for a while she spits up her milk. Why does she do this?"

Answer: Regurgitation has practically a 100 per cent incidence with babies. They all do some of it. The crying is accompanied by contractions of the diaphragm which press the milk out of the stomach into the throat. It is not doing any harm if the baby is gaining weight.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

THE BACKWARD FINESSE

THERE ARE a few combinations of the cards which do not furnish a chance to make any of the ordinary finessses, but can produce a promoted trick anyway by playing them in a special way. By leading an intermediate honor, prepared to let it go through and win if it is not covered, you go up with a higher honor in the opposite hand if it is covered. Then on the way back you finesse between the remaining top and the card two steps lower against the missing honor.

Pretty thin bidding, that, by everybody concerned, yet South could have made his overbid game, and it was too bad to see him miss it. West led his club 7 to the K, on which South put the Q and he then returned the 8 to the J. Next South led his diamond 2 to the Q and K and returned the diamond 5, playing low and letting the A win. West offered his last club, East taking two tricks with his 9 and A, on which South discarded a spade and a heart, beating himself. East's return was a diamond to the J. South then led the spade Q to the K and A, leaving the J high, so came to his hand with the heart K, took two diamonds and the heart A, then gave up the last trick, being down one.

When the last two clubs were scored, South should have tossed two spades to keep his hearts. Even if East then returned a spade to the A, the diamond J would have been an entry to his own hand. Then he could have made a backward finesse, leading the heart J. If West covered, he could have returned the 8 to the 9, finessing against the 10. That would have given him three tricks in hearts, four in diamonds and one each in the black suits. The heart Q was marked with West, who otherwise could not have had even a thin opening, and a guess for the 10 in East's hand offered the only likely chance for a game.

DEATH AT THE SWITCH

RICHARD HOUGHTON

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE

"KING DOESN'T like me," Henry reminded his fellow conspirator. "He'll think it strange, my forcing a visit on him tonight. Maybe he won't let me in."

"That's the argument that ought to win an audience with him," Spinelli declared. "Tell him he hasn't any grounds for suspecting you of murder. Tell him that why you're coming to him—to convince him you're innocent. Argue with him. Keep him busy."

"And what will you be doing?" "I'm going to look for Mrs. Willett's father—and see if he has any other gun traps around the place."

"Mrs. Willett's father? Gun traps?" "He answers every description but one. He'd have a shotgun for rabbits, being a gardener. He is a small man, lighter than you are, but he is strong and active. He would be the logical one to have seen your signal light shining up out of the well. He is, as Laurence put it, dumb."

Henry protested. "But he wasn't at the meeting the night Ives was killed!" Spinelli halted as they came to the gate of the banker's estate. "You go ahead. I'll cut around to the rear."

Henry walked on alone, wishing he'd never come. He imagined the old man behind every dark bush crowding the curved driveway. The gravel rattled under his feet. To attract less attention he walked in the middle of the road where there was short grass.

The huge house was dark except for a dim light toward the rear. Henry mounted the front steps, his heart pounding as though he had been running. He lifted the big brass knocker and let it drop.

Footsteps sounded inside. A light glowed in the transom, but the door did not open. "Who's there?" demanded the muffled voice of Stanley King.

"It's just me—Henry Potter." "Henry Potter?" The banker's cry was almost a scream. "I knew it! You're the killer! Get out of here!"

"I'm no killer, Mr. King. You ought to know that. I came to ask you why you suspect me."

"Get out! I have a gun. I'll get you first!"

Henry swallowed. "I—I don't have a gun. Don't be afraid of me—please don't!"

"I'm not afraid of you—you little rat—now I know who you are!"

Henry retreated backward down the steps. He waited there, wondering what he should do next, ready to run if King opened the door.

The blast of a gun went off around the corner of the house. Henry instinctively dropped to the ground. Stanley King screamed as though shot.

The door flew open. King ran out. He didn't see Henry, almost collided with him in flight. The big man was wearing a bathrobe and slippers. He vanished into the blackness of the garden like a witch.

Framed in the doorway, looking out, was Spinelli, a weird figure with his stiff, bandaged neck. He held a revolver in his hand.

Henry drew a sharp breath that was painful in his tight throat. He breathed to himself, "Spinelli's the murderer! He sneaked around behind King while I held his attention!"

"Hullo there!" called Spinelli. "I say, Mr. King, nobody's trying to shoot you! That was an accident." Henry lifted himself to his hands and knees. Spinelli saw him.

"That man's crazy!" Spinelli declared, coming down the steps. "Crazy with fear. He thought you crept around the side window and took a shot at him."

"Who—who shot?" Henry was trembling. He wanted to run, but his legs wouldn't obey him. "No one. It was another of those gun traps—set this afternoon after the sheriff was here. I went to look in through a window to see if the old man was inside the house, and it almost got me. I half suspected it would be there, and I was careful to keep my hands well in front of me to trip it before I got in the line of fire."

"You—you thought it would be there?" "Certainly. That's what the other trap was for—to keep someone from getting into the house—not to kill Stanley King. It was set for the murderer."

"Oh! And the man who set it was Mrs. Willett's father?" "Right. It wasn't King, or he would have known what went off. The only other one who could have fixed the gun since the sheriff was here was the old man."

"But if he set the trap for the murderer, he isn't the murderer!"

"I never said he was. Come on, let's find him. That shot will bring him from wherever he is."

They tiptoed to the corner of the house and waited, but no one appeared, and the gardens were dark and silent.

"He heard us talking," Henry whispered.

"Perhaps so. Let's look down by the garage. I think he sleeps in a room at the rear."

They parted the bushes and crossed the lawn. There was enough starlight to show the way. Henry wondered if there would be a gun trap at the garage.

Gravel crunched under their feet again as they passed the boundary of the lawn. The small garage building was almost buried in the blackness of the trees that sheltered it.

"Not a light," observed Henry. Spinelli grasped him by an arm. "Sh! Listen!"

The mumble of a voice reached their ears, faint and unnatural in its tone. One man was talking—talking continuously and in a monotone—inside the garage.

Goose flesh crept over Henry. He whispered in Spinelli's ear. "He's really crazy by now!" "That's not King's voice. And it's not the voice of the old man, either."

Henry didn't want to walk closer, but he didn't want to be left behind, either. He followed Spinelli to the open door of the garage, trying to be silent. The voice grew louder.

"It's a radio," Spinelli said. "Someone left the radio turned on in his car."

"But there's no car here!" "Then it's the radio in the old man's room in back of the garage. Listen! What's it saying?"

"Attention all cars! Attention all police and sheriff's officers. Henry Potter, in custody on suspicion of murder of John Ives, has escaped. He is believed to be on foot. He has no car, but may steal one. He was reported five minutes ago at the Stanley King estate. Attention cars 1 and 2. Search for him there. He may be armed and dangerous. That is all."

NOW, congress is asking (not in its official capacity but in the course of cloakroom speculation), will we establish Azores and Cape Verde island bases?

There's been more talk of it than there was of Iceland occupation. Our Icelandward move took most of the lawmakers by surprise. An American landing on the Azores and Cape Verde wouldn't catch 'em off guard as much as Iceland did. Even Iceland, for that matter, was no unexpected jolt to Senator Burton K. Wheeler. Several days before President Roosevelt announced his action as commander in chief of the United States navy, Burt had told his fellow senators he'd had a confidential tip that some such development was coming. They generally thought, however, that his violent isolationism made him subject to that kind of hallucinations, and paid little attention to him. It seems his sources of information are more reliable than they supposed 'em to be.

Incidentally, the British newspapers are howling that the senator never ought to have given out the item in advance of the presidential announcement and Prime Minister Churchill said as much in a note to President Roosevelt; it might have served as a warning to Herr Hitler, perhaps making it a lot more difficult to put the plan into execution. But what Burt Wheeler cares for the British press' criticism of him would be nothing to write home about.

A Yankee occupation of the Azores and Cape Verde certainly would precipitate a worse screech than the Iceland one. Iceland was perfectly willing to be Americanly occupied and protected. Indeed, its prime minister, Hermann Jonasson, virtually invited it, upon certain conditions which President Roosevelt agreed to.

ICELAND DIFFERENT

Denmark may object, or pretend to do so, under pressure from Berlin, but Denmark isn't entitled to speak for Iceland. The Icelanders aren't Danish subjects. They're independent. Greenland's different. That's a Danish possession.

When the Germans having over-run Denmark, State Secretary Hull arranged with Henrik de Kauffmann, Danish minister in Washington, for an American protectorate over the Greenlanders, the Copenhagen government repudiated (doubtless at Herr Hitler's dictation) the bargain its Washington representative had entered into. True, we entirely disregarded this repudiation, went right ahead and proceeded to protect Greenland. Still, technically Greenland is Denmark's. Iceland isn't. It and Denmark are two distinct countries. It happens that the same individual is king of both of 'em, but they're separate kingdoms. In his Icelandic kingly capacity, this chap's a mere figurehead. The local boss is Prime Minister Jonasson. What he says for Iceland counts, legally.

The Azores and Cape Verde islands are like Greenland—out-and-out possessions of a home country. In their case it's Portugal. In the present world situation, with two or three lawless dictators grabbing everything they can get their claws on, I don't question that a weak little country like Portugal would be glad to have a big, strong, friendly power protecting its islands. But, same as Denmark, it simply would have to screech its head off, under the dictators' orders, in opposition to anything of the sort.

Jane P. Thomas Becomes Richard Plum's Bride

Cincinnati Church
Scene Of Nuptial
Vows

Gowned in her oldest sister's wedding dress of white satin, Miss Jane Pauline Thomas of Cincinnati became the bride of Mr. Richard E. Plum, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Plum of North Court Street. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Thomas of 3639 Reading Road, Cincinnati. The ceremony was performed at 7:30 p. m. Saturday, July 12, in the First United Church, Reading Road and Lee Place, Cincinnati. The Rev. G. B. Rich read the single ring service.

Tall white candles in cathedral candelabra lighted the altar banked with palms and baskets of white gladioli.

The organ recital of wedding music included "Oh, Promise Me", "I Love You Truly", "At Dawning", "Ave Maria" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life".

The bride's gown was fashioned on traditional lines, the real lace at the neck having been used first on her grandmother's wedding dress. The finger-tip veil of bridal illusion, fell from a halo of gardenias and lilies-of-the-valley. White gladioli and lilies were used in her bouquet.

Miss Jean Theobald of Washington, C. H., formerly of Circleville, was maid-of-honor at the wedding. Pink bows trimmed the full skirt of her quaint blue mousseline de sole gown. She wore a necklace of pearls and carried a colonial bouquet.

Miss Mary Helen Stokes of Cincinnati wore an identical outfit of pink as she served as bridesmaid for Miss Thomas.

Mr. Charles W. Plum of New York City served as best man for his brother.

Mr. Edward Haberer of Dayton, Mr. Stanley Ogden and Mr. Edward Daley of Fort Knox, Ky., were ushers at the wedding.

The bridal party, close friends and relatives were entertained at an informal reception in the church parlors after the ceremony. Mrs. Thomas, mother of the bride, wore a blue crepe dinner dress with a corsage of pink rose buds.

A three-tier wedding cake with a miniature bride and bridegroom on the top was on the bride's table which was centered with a lovely arrangement of white gladioli.

A white linen frock, trimmed with rust and green, was worn with white accessories by the bride when the new Mr. and Mrs. Plum left for a short wedding trip. They plan to establish their home in Cincinnati.

The bride is a graduate of Withrow High School, Cincinnati, and of Miami University, Oxford, where she became a member of Delta Gamma, national sorority.

After graduating from Circleville High School and Miami University, Mr. Plum became associated with his father in the insurance business in Circleville. He is now in service at Fort Knox, Ky.

Circleville guests at the wedding were Mr. H. W. Plum, father of the bridegroom; Mrs. Ned Plum, his sister-in-law, and Mr. and Mrs. Ned Harden. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Plum, New York City; Mrs. Martin Cromley and Miss Eliza Plum of Ashville.

Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Brobst of South Pickaway Street, who will observe their Golden Wedding anniversary Wednesday, July 16, were honored at a family dinner Sunday at their home.

The guests included relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Brobst, and Miss Daisy Murray of East High Street who had been a guest at their wedding 50 years ago.

A beautifully decorated anniversary cake, a gift to Mr. and Mrs. Brobst, centered the table which had twin bouquets of flowers at either end.

The bride is a graduate of Circleville High School in the class of 1938. For the last year she has been employed as a sten-

Designed for Loafing

The slacks suit sketched at left has navy blue slacks and white mess jacket in Palm Beach cloth, a shirt in red and white striped cotton.

SMART gals have borrowed another trick from the lordly males. This time it's the Palm Beach suit.

Those of you who have admired the faultless tailoring and the well-pressed look of men's Summer suits need sigh no more. You may have the very same cool but sturdy fabric made up in your own Summer suits and slacks.

The vogue for men's wear fabrics goes on apace chiefly because they tailor so beautifully and don't have to be pressed every time you turn around. Women have discovered these comforting qualities in their fall and winter suits. Now they may enjoy that same crisp tailoring all the year round.

The new Palm Beach slacks and suits are the last word in well-groomed Summer comfort. They come in all the colors and patterns shown in men's suits, are light, washable, cool and wrinkle-resistant.

Small dead spots in the lawn at this time of the year are quite likely to be due to chinch bugs. If these insects can be found in or about the dead spots, treat the spots and adjacent areas with finely ground tobacco dust in dry weather, or spray with a nicotine sulfate or a pyrethrum extract preparation.

A Fair Driver Looking for Fares

MRS. Hazel Blondin, one of the first women applicants for a cab driver's job to be accepted by a New York City cab company, is shown at the wheel of a cab—ready to start her new job. All she needs now is a hack license. The company advertised for women drivers because of the growing shortage of men for that type of work.

STARS SAY—

For Monday, July 14

Monday's astrological forecast is for much activity in highly constructive and practical lines, with surprising and original lines of bringing achievements before the public. Such solid but unique work should have far-reaching and enduring returns despite several subtle and treacherous assaults or deceptions. It would be advisable to use extra precaution with contracts, letters and communications.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of unusual activity in practical and constructive lines in which the public interest may be at stake. This enterprise may rate solid and enduring stability in fame and fortune, in spite of intrigue, subtlety and treachery. They should be alert

Golfers Defeat Lancaster 29-13 In Match Played On Loser's Course

Pickaway Country Club golfers had a comparatively easy time Sunday afternoon in defeating the Lancaster team, 29-13, on the beautiful Fairfield County course. Out of 14 matches played the local club won nine, tied one and lost four.

Best medal score of the day was carded by Don Stemple, Lancaster pro, who hit 36-39-75. Dean Brooks and Bob Friece, local amateurs, scored 39-38, 77 and 88-40, 78, respectively, to top all other golfers in the contest.

The Lancaster team will invade the Pickaway Country Club course next Sunday afternoon.

Ghezzi Overcomes Long Lead to Defeat Nelson

By Harold Heroux

DENVER, July 14—Meet the new "Mr. Big" of America's 2,000-odd professional golfers—Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J.

He's tall, dark and handsome—and a bachelor—which makes him quite a standout with the ladies. And he's quite a shotmaker, with plenty of courage, and that makes him an "all right guy" with the males, too.

Some 5,000 fans trailed Ghezzi yesterday and saw him accomplish the "impossible" by overcoming a three-up lead held by the great Byron Nelson in the home stretch, and then go on to take Nelson's highly-prized P.G.A. crown on the 38th hole, one up.

He was a 3 to 1 underdog in his match with Nelson, who had lost only three out of 25 P.G.A. matches in recent years. And when the pro's own "world series" opened last week you could have wagered one hat against fourteen if you thought the 29-year-old Latin-American ace would be "Mr. Big" today.

Few people are collecting those fourteen bonnets today, however. Ghezzi had never gotten beyond the third round of a P.G.A. tournament in nine years of persistent attempts. At the close of 1940, he was ranked No. 12 in the pro's own rankings, behind the big money winners—Ben Hogan, Sam Snead, Nelson, Jimmy Demaret, Dick Metz, Ralph Guldahl, Craig Wood, Horton Smith, Harold McSpaden, Jimmy Hines and Gene Sarazen, all of whom were entrants at Denver's Cherry Hills course.

Lucky in Draw
The luck of the draw smiled on Ghezzi. He got into the "easy bracket" and had only one big-name golfer to beat—Jimmy Hines—before he reached the finals. His other victims were Joe Pezzullo, Augie Nordone, Jack Grout and the promising newcomer, Lloyd Mangrum.
Nelson, on the other hand, had to polish off Guldahl, Hogan and Sarazen, in a row, in the climactic rounds, to get to the finals. Bunny Torpey and Bill Heinlein were his early victims.

Experts and fans alike figured Nelson, the defending champion, could beat the erstwhile No. 12 man in the finals. But they overlooked Ghezzi's "never-say-die" spirit.

The "beaten" Ghezzi won the 28th, 29th and 30th holes yesterday to wipe out Nelson's three-stroke lead at the three-quarter turn. He went into the lead at the 33rd, but Nelson squared the match on the 35th. The 36th and last regularly scheduled hole was split, after Ghezzi missed a four-foot putt for a win.

The first extra hole was divided. Then came the 38th, the pay-off hole, as it developed. Both Nelson and Ghezzi were on the green in three with great chip shots. The officials measured to see which player was furthest from the cup, but the tape measure said each was exactly four feet away. They tossed to see who should putt first. Dame fortune ruled that Nelson must putt.

Controversy Develops
Nelson moved in to putt and a bit of controversy among the officials developed. The heel of Nelson's shoe accidentally touched Ghezzi's ball and this brought up the question of whether he should lose the hole on a technicality. Another official's huddle was called.

It was ruled that Ghezzi's ball interfered with Nelson's stance, and it could be removed momentarily from the green without penalty. Nelson putted and missed. Ghezzi putted and his ball slid in the "side-door" of the cup to win the hole, the match and the championship.

In losing, Nelson once more fell before his own jinx, in addition to Ghezzi's inspired golf. He has won all the big titles—the National Open, the P.G.A., the Augusta Masters and many others—but never once has he been able to repeat, to retain or regain any of them.

HEROES AND GOATS

Heroes—Elmer Riddle, who won his 10th straight game for the Cincinnati Reds in the opener against the Braves and Max West, whose ninth inning two-run double gave the Braves the nightcap; Joe DiMaggio, who hit safely in his 52nd and 53rd straight games and Red Ruffing, who allowed only three hits in 11 innings as the Yankees beat the White Sox twice. Ken Heintzleman, of the Pirates, who shutout the Giants with two hits.

Goats—Jim Tabor, whose error enabled the Indians to win the nightcap and thus sweep a twin bill with the Red Sox; Harold Newhouse, who had the A's stopped for the Tigers, but suddenly weakened and was chased as the A's went on to victory; Thornton Lee, who pitched six-hit ball for 11 innings only to lose for the White Sox against the Yankees.

DICKSON, RIGHT HAND RED BIRD STAR, IRON MAN

By International News Service

Although Minneapolis defeated Louisville twice to take over the lead in the Red-hot American Association pennant chase, chief interest of AA ball fans today centered in the feat of Murry Dickson, who hurled both games of a double header against Milwaukee and won them hands down.

The little right-handed iron man granted only three bingles in the first game, which he won 6 to 2, and then shut the Brewers out in the nightcap, 3 to 0, on another trio of blows.

Even the clouting Cossack, Lou Novikoff, could get only a single hit from the sizzling slants of the hard-working

FATE OF PARKING METER PLAN MAY BE DECIDED WEDNESDAY EVE

COUNCIL TAKES UP ORDINANCE FOR THIRD TIME

Final Ballot, Or Return To Safety Committee Certain For Legislation

NEW LAW DISCUSSED

Municipality Has Right To Regulate Own System Within Limits

Showdown on City Council's parking meter ordinance is expected Wednesday night when the council meets in regular session. The meter ordinance will come before Council for its third reading Wednesday night, which means that councilmen must do one of two things with the measure—either vote on it or send it back to the Safety Committee.

It is not probable that Council will adopt the meter ordinance without taking some stand on the parallel-angle parking controversy. An ordinance providing for parallel parking in the downtown restricted zones was presented and read for the first time at the last regular council session. It replaced the 30-degree system recommended by Council's safety committee.

Some persons recommending the parallel system on Main and Court Streets have suggested that according to state traffic regulations, parallel parking on state routes through the city would be necessary to comply with state requirements. However, according to traffic regulations adopted by the last session of the Ohio General Assembly a municipality has the right to adopt its own traffic regulations regarding parking within its corporation limits.

Section 67 of the traffic code, which becomes effective in September, provides that "except where angle parking is permitted by local ordinance, every vehicle stopped or parked on a roadway where there is an adjacent curb shall be stopped or parked with the right-hand wheels of such vehicle parallel with and not more than 12 inches from the right-hand curb."

May Write Own Ticket
William D. Radcliff, Pickaway County's representative to the General Assembly, pointed out that under the law, the city had a right to adopt any system of parking it desired. The federal government, however, with Routes 22 and 23 declared military highways, could overrule the state regulations and demand parallel parking on Main and Court Streets if it so desired, Representative Radcliff said.

Another vital issue which Council may consider at Wednesday night's session is that of adding additional policemen to the present force to comply with the state 8-hour a day law for policemen. The law becomes effective August 1, and unless Council calls a special session, Wednesday night's meeting will be the last before the ruling goes into effect.

The law provides that a patrolman may work no more than eight hours out of every 24 and no more than six days a week. If the police department is to comply with the law, at least two more patrolmen must be added, Mayor W. B. Cady previously has told councilmen.

School Classes Start Sept. 8, Close June 4

For Circleville school pupils, the 1941-42 school year will open on Monday, September 8th, according to the school calendar adopted by the Board of Education and announced Monday by Superintendent Frank Fischer. The school year will end with Commencement exercises June 4, 1942.

First vacation for those enrolled in city schools will come October 9 and 10, Thursday and Friday of the Pumpkin Show. Many of the school pupils and organizations, as well as the Junior and Senior bands, will participate in the Pumpkin Show this year. With the O. E. A. meeting in Dayton on October 24 and 25, Friday, October 24, also has been made an open date on the school calendar.

Thanksgiving holidays will be November 20 and 21 this year, giving Circleville students a four-day vacation from classes, with school resumed on Monday, November 24.

Two weeks dismissal has been scheduled for the Christmas holidays. School will close Monday, December 22 and will reopen January 5. Vacations during the spring quarter include Washington's birthday, observed by the local schools on Monday, February 23, and Easter vacation, April 2 and 3.

Circleville's school board is hoping to make a number of repairs and improvements to the school buildings before school resumes in September. The Corwin Street building is badly in need of repair, but with limited funds available, the school board has announced it will be unable to make all the necessary repairs and at the same time pay the salaries of its teachers and purchase necessary supplies.

The board is considering a special levy, to be placed before Circleville voters, probably at the general election, which will provide revenue for current operating expenses.

BOMBERS OVER BERLIN

A fairly accurate picture of the British bombing of Berlin has been obtained from sources inside the Nazi capital. It indicates that although not much damage has been done, the effect on the German people has been considerable.

German pilots have expressed frank amazement at the ability of British pilots to find Berlin at night, since they fly only by instruments and have to come a great deal farther than the short hop which Nazi pilots make from France to England. Of course, once the first British planes are over Berlin, Nazi searchlights turned on to combat them leave no doubt in the minds of the aviators where they are.

Berlin is ringed by what is supposed to be the greatest anti-aircraft defense in the world. However, the Germans send almost no fighter planes into the air to meet the British, and the anti-air guns have not stopped them. For a time the efforts of the gunners to find the bombers were so ineffectual that Goebbels had to issue a reminder that Germany's strength lay in offense, not defense.

The Germans have a secret device for detecting the approach of airplanes (probably similar to the British detector) and an approaching raid is known about half an hour in advance. The public does not get the raid alarm until about fifteen minutes in advance. Everyone must be off the street—not so much for fear of bombs, but because of falling metal from anti-air shells. These are a hail shower whenever a raid is in progress.

DECOY BOMB TRAPS

The Nazis also have erected bomb traps to decoy British bombers away from Berlin. Just outside the city, for instance, is a forest cut through with lanes which at night might look like the Tiergarten. Fake roofs made of cloth and paper are stretched between trees, and on the ground are low blue lights to imitate a blacked out city. Looking down at night a British flier might think he was over the very center of Berlin.

Raids over Berlin have been few this summer because the nights are short, and because it is more profitable for the British to bomb the much closer industrial cities in the Ruhr or along the coast.

NOTE—The roof of the American Embassy in Berlin is made of a fabricated semi-paper substance, so that a member of the Embassy staff has to inspect it periodically during every raid.

TWO TRUCK OPERATORS CITED FOR INTOXICATION

Two truckers, driving one behind the other on Route 56 west of Circleville, were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Bryan Custer Saturday on charges of driving when intoxicated.

Each driver was fined $100 and costs in Justice of Peace B. T. Hedges court Sunday. Both paid their fines and were released.

The drivers were V. W. Tedrow, Wellston, and Ralph Blackstone, Hamden Route 1. Tedrow's truck ran from the highway and damaged 50 yards of fence on the George Kerns farm in Jackson Township. Tedrow paid $25 for repairs to the fence besides his $100 fine.

Kervyn T. Morrison, New Holland, arrested Saturday by Corporal R. L. Galbreath of the Highway Patrol for reckless operation on Route 22 west of Circleville, paid a fine of $10 and costs in Justice Hedges' court Sunday.

PLAYS DETECTIVE

Agatha Meek's enthusiasm for antiques lands Mortimer Meek in the detective's seat on "Meet Mr. Meek," Wednesday, 6:30 p. m. Agatha purchases an old pair of silver candlesticks from an ex-millinaire that unbeknownst to her hides a fortune in diamonds. A burglar hid them there many years ago when he was surprised in the act of robbing the millinaire's home. The burglar, recently released from prison, traces the candlesticks to the Meeks, and that's when Mortimer Meek assumes his detective role.

BURNS SIGNED

Deal has finally been consummated whereby Bob Burns leaves the Bing Crosby programs permanently to star in his own series beginning September 19. Sponsor, which had the "Playhouse" series on the air, may not return the latter in the fall but probably will put Burns into the 9:30 p. m. spot which the "Playhouse" occupied. Contract is for 26 weeks and Burns will continue his "Arkansas Traveler" character which he has been doing on the Crosby series.

ENGLISH COMEDY

"The Amazing Dr. Clitterhouse," English comedy by Barre Lyndon, will be presented by Charles Martin, adapter and director, on "Great Moments from Great Plays" Friday, at 8 p. m. The story concerns a famous London physician who joins a band of thieves in order to study crime at first hand. He is blackmailed and, to save himself, he commits murder. His lawyer, however, believes the jury will judge him insane. Background music is by Ray Block and his 21-piece orchestra.

RADIO BRIEFS

Al Jolson is reported to have signed for a fall radio series.

It looks as though Parker Fennelly, actor on Joan Blaine's "Valiant Lady" program, is heading for Broadway recognition as a playwright. Currently Brock Pemberton is producing Fennelly's play "Two Story House," in Gloucester, Mass.

The hilarious play "Kiss The Boys Goodbye," which was recently filmed, will be adapted for Louella Parsons' "Hollywood Premiere" program, on July 25.

Iika Chase, star of "Penthouse Party", after countless straw hat rejections accepted this week the leading role in "Love In Our Time," which will have its premiere in Westport, Connecticut, on August 2.

Though Burns and Allen plus Paul Whiteman's orchestra have signed on the dotted line, network time has not been settled.

Rheumatism Pains Stop in 7 to 10 Minutes

It is now easy to end rheumatism pains. 7 to 10 minutes will prove it to you. The test will cost you nothing.

So why suffer another day from the agony of this painful ailment when you can secure MUSCLE-RUB, the new preparation that not only conquers the pains of rheumatism, but also lameness, sprains, neuralgia, as well as the less serious lameness of muscles and joints? It is no longer necessary to dose the system with internal medicine. The entire MUSCLE-RUB treatment is a simple liquid, applied directly to the limbs, shoulders, neck, face or back—wherever the trouble may be. There is no burning—no irritation. All pain stops as if by magic. Even chronic and severe conditions respond so amazingly that seldom is more than a bottle needed.

MUSCLE-RUB is a new discovery. It is a real scientific preparation. You no longer need to dose the system with violent or nauseating drugs. The treatment is applied directly to the part affected—externally. You literally feel the pain leaving.

And just see what others—sufferers just like yourself—say about this wonderful preparation:

MUSCLE-RUB RELIEVED PAINS AFTER SUFFERING TWO YEARS

I am writing this letter to let you know how well pleased I am with your MUSCLE-RUB. I have spent a great deal of money trying every kind of remedy and liniment for my Rheumatism but found nothing to help me until I was told about your remarkable MUSCLE-RUB. I used about 1/4 of the large bottle and obtained some very good results. This is the first time in many years that I have been relieved from pain. I wouldn't be without a bottle of MUSCLE-RUB in our home. Wm. Hoffmiller—Mt. No. 1—Liberty Centre, Ohio.

DRUGGIST RECOMMENDS MUSCLE-RUB FOR RHEUMATISM

Your MUSCLE-RUB was recommended to me by our Druggist for Rheumatism. After many years of severe torturing pains, I am mighty happy to write you that your remedy was really a God Send. This is the first time in many years that I have been able to rest peacefully without pain. My sister has also used your MUSCLE-RUB for a bad sprain and it has given her satisfactory results. I am indeed very grateful to have learned of your remedy and recommend your MUSCLE-RUB very highly. Colonel M. Livingston—1229 Pine St., Phila., Pa.

MUSCLE-RUB BEST REMEDY WE FOUND FOR RHEUMATISM

My daughter has been suffering with Rheumatism for a long time. We tried almost everything to relieve her pain—but nothing seemed to help until we tried your MUSCLE-RUB, which gave her splendid relief—and the results were very satisfactory. I can honestly recommend your MUSCLE-RUB to all. Mrs. Rebecca Green—St. Charles, W. Va.

We urge only that you make this test. MUSCLE-RUB is now obtainable at all Drug Stores. Buy it today. Use one-half the bottle, and if you are not amazed and delighted with the results, return the remaining half to your druggist, and he will refund your money. The price is 50c regular size, $1.00 for large family size. GET A BOTTLE OF MUSCLE-RUB TODAY. SPECIAL THIS WEEK, 45c and 85c. AT MYKRANTZ DRUG STORE

CHURCHILL REJECTS "ANY HITLER TRUCE"

BRITISH DEFIANT OF LUFTWAFFE, LAUD AIR FORCE

Nazism To Be Torn Into Pieces, Minister Tells Defense Workers

AMERICAN HELP CITED

RAF Intensifying Attacks
On Germans; Efforts Of
Civilians Cheered

LONDON, July 14—Defying the German luftwaffe to come back to London to do its worst, Prime Minister Winston Churchill today again rejected any truce with Hitlerism and spoke of the day when the Nazi regime may be "torn to pieces" by the German people themselves.

Vitriolic in his condemnation of German air bombings of civilian populations, Churchill nevertheless said that the British people had decided to return blow for blow and that the Royal Air Force, strengthened by American aid, was giving "measure and more than measure" of what had been received.

The RAF is intensifying its attacks on Germany, he said, adding:

"We believe it to be in our power to keep this process going on a steadily rising tide, month after month, year after year, until the Nazi regime is either extirpated by us or, better still, torn to pieces by the German people themselves."

Churchill made official previous British predictions that Britain will reject any peace Hitler may offer if and when he conquers Soviet Russia.

Addressing 6,000 London Civil Defense workers in Hyde Park, Churchill said:

"We will have no truce with Hitler or with the grizzly gang who did Hitler's wicked work."

Churchill's address for the most part dealt with the vital role played by civilian defense workers in "rescuing" London after each successive attack by the German air force.

He predicted that mass Nazi raids would be resumed shortly and expressed firm conviction that London's 250,000 air raid precautions and fire workers would pitch in again as they have in the past to preserve this city as a vast and modern "center of civilization."

Churchill paid tribute to the "varied, complex, sensitive and severe society" which he said Britain had evolved over the centuries.

"How capable it is," he exclaimed, "of withstanding the most prodigious, the most unexpected and most fractious strains!"

CCC Camp Construction Begins

Six Weeks Will Be Required To Put
Up Quarters

Four laborers, three carpenters and a government inspector began construction work Monday on Circleville's CCC camp site at the end of East Mound Street.

Workers, employees of the Aller Construction Company of Columbus, were laying lines Monday for erecting a building to house bath and shower facilities for enrollees of the camp. The building will be located in the northwest corner of the plot.

Calvin Davis, Cambridge, foreman of the construction crew, said the job should be completed in six weeks with five buildings providing facilities for fifty CCC boys ready for occupancy.

The construction contract calls for a barracks 150 feet by 20 feet, a school 130 feet by 20 feet, officers' quarters 20 feet by 30 feet and a mess hall 120 feet by 30 feet.

In a portion of the mess hall building a recreation room will be constructed with games and reading facilities to occupy the boys in their spare time.

Come From Over State

The boys to be stationed at the camp will be brought here from all over the state and made apprentices in the CCC repair shop at Clinton and Half Avenue. A. H. Medendorp, superintendent at the repair shop, said he had received no notice from the War Department on when to expect the boys, but the camp is expected to be occupied soon after it is completed.

The camp will be under the supervision of regular army officers, and those stationed there will be under the strict discipline of the camp program. The camp is located on the Mrs. O. K. Heise property where the War Department has secured a 5-year lease.

Simultaneously with the start of construction work on the CCC camp came an announcement from employees working on the one-story building at Main and Scioto Streets that the structure was nearing completion and would be ready for occupancy within the next few days.

A few interior light fixtures and some interior painting is all that remains to be done, workers at the building said Monday.

The new structure, built on the property of Harry Sohn, Pickaway Township, includes 50,000 feet of floor space, with a 50 foot frontage on Main Street and 100 foot frontage on Scioto Street.

NAVY MAY SPEND HUGE SUMS FOR MANY NEW SHIPS

WASHINGTON, July 14—The House Naval Affairs Committee by a vote of 13 to 1 today approved an authorization measure permitting the Navy to spend $555,000,000 additional for shipbuilding, ship repairing, and ordnance manufacturing facilities.

The action came as President Roosevelt formally transmitted to Congress his request for new appropriations totalling $3,300,000,000 for the Navy and Maritime Commission.

This includes funds for 566 additional merchant ships "suitable for conversion into navy or military auxiliaries."

Informed congressmen said these ships will be constructed so that they can be converted quickly into auxiliary aircraft carriers for possible use in stepped-up patrol and convoy work.

B. I. S. FUGITIVE HUNTED

Officers from Boys' Industrial School, Lancaster, informed local police Monday of the escape of Charles Bowman, 18, Cincinnati, from the institution Sunday about 10:30 p. m. Lancaster officials told police that Bowman was reported seen Monday about 7 a. m. on Route 188 walking toward Circleville.

Hans and Fritz Stranded!

Captain Weidemann Dr. Hans Borchers
German Diplomatic Team Left Behind By Jap Ship Despite Weidemann's Efforts

SAN FRANCISCO, July 14—Hans and Fritz were definitely perturbed today—but it could not be said they had brought it entirely on themselves.

With all other axis consuls due to sail for home tomorrow from New York, the Nazi diplomatic team of Dr. Hans Borchers, late of New York, and Capt. Fritz Wiedemann, of San Francisco, was still stranded by the Golden Gate, after a double last-minute change in plans and despite frantic efforts to halt a Japanese liner in the Pacific.

The predicament of the two top-ranking Nazi consuls, who had been given special permission to sail direct to their new posts in the Orient instead of being put aboard the liner West Point with their colleagues, was due primarily to the British government's delay in granting them a safe-conduct across the Pacific.

After several hours of futile but vigorous international wire-pulling, including trans-continental and trans-Pacific telephone calls, Capt. Wiedemann announced glumly early today that he and Dr. Borchers and their families and their aides will sail from San Francisco July 31 aboard the Tatuta Maru.

Their exact status until then was undetermined pending word (Continued on Page Two)

Whereas the Constitution of the United States provides that congress has the sole power to declare war; and

Whereas the secretary of the navy, in public utterances, has advocated that the American Navy intervene in the present war now;

Whereas, such intervention of the American Navy would constitute actual and open war without and

Whereas, by his solemn oath of office, the secretary of the navy has sworn to uphold the Constitution of the United States;

Now, therefore, be it resolved that we, the representatives of chapters of the America First Committee from San Diego, Cal., to Boston, Mass., do condemn and repudiate the unauthorized utterances and conduct of the secretary of the navy, and by reason of his outright advocacy of undeclared war, in defense of the Constitution, do declare it to be the sense of this group that the secretary of the navy is no longer a fit person to hold his present high office and should be removed from that office.

CIO PRESIDENT SUFFERS COLLAPSE DURING GAME

PITTSBURGH, July 14—CIO President Philip Murray was in Mercy Hospital for observation today after having collapsed during a badminton game last night.

No immediate information was available on his condition. Dr. W. L. Mullins, attending at the hospital, said merely "no information."

Grade Crossing

FIVE DROWNING VICTIMS

Columbus Police Officer
Dies As Plane Falls
During Air Show

By International News Service
Nearly a score of Ohioans died violently over the week end as a result of auto accidents or drownings.

A single grade crossing crash near Port Clinton which claimed the lives of five Negro WPA workers boosted the traffic toll to at least 12; at least five were drowned, and a Columbus policeman was killed when his plane crashed during an air show.

Five Negro WPA workers were killed when the auto in which they were returning from work was struck by a New York Central train at Lacarne station, near Port Clinton. They were Cornelius Caldwell, Edward Cunnings, Charles E. Daniels, Thomas R. Ellis and David A. Ferguson.

A two-car crash on U. S. Route 42 northeast of Mansfield killed Mrs. Hilda Greenwald, 32, of Cleveland, and injured six others. Thomas Wilson, 31, of Ironton, maintenance foreman at the Stony Creek CCC Camp, died in a Chillicothe hospital of injuries received in a downtown crash.

Two persons died as the result of traffic accidents in the Akron area—Larry W. Albertson, 30, a Cleveland sheet metal worker, killed when his car rolled down an embankment, and John Sproh, 60, of Warren, struck by a hit-skip driver as he walked on Route 176.

Harold Leroy Smith, 23, of Cincinnati, was killed when the auto in which he was riding struck a pole near Newport, Ky.

Ralph A. Beight, 55, of Dayton, was killed when struck by an auto as he stepped from behind a parked truck near Fremont.

Two Drown In Erie

Two persons drowned in Lake Erie 1,000 feet from the shore at Cleveland when the boat in which four persons were riding capsized. They were Cooper Boyd, 46-year-old engineer, and his wife, Margaret, 45. Two others clung to the craft and were rescued.

Twenty-eight-year-old Fred Myers failed to come up after a dive in Lake Vesuvius, eight miles north of Ironton.

'SUICIDE PACT' CLAIM NAZIS OF NEW ACCORD

BERLIN, July 14—The Anglo-Russian military aid agreement was termed a "suicide pact" by the Wilhelmstrasse today.

The pact merely assures the signatories that one will not die without the other, it was said.

With regard to Anglo-Russian pledges against a separate peace, a spokesman said:

"Let it be emphatically clear we have launched a fight to the death of Bolshevism. We will not let up until Bolshevism has been forever annihilated and exterminated in Europe."

"So far as British aid is concerned, we hope it gets into the front-line quickly, so that our booty may be increased."

"The pact will not prevent the fall of both nations, even if they are clutching each other."

In Doghouse?

MARSHAL GOERING

LONDON, July 14—Britain eagerly hoped for substantiation of a Moscow radio broadcast claiming that Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, No. 2 Nazi leader and commander of the luftwaffe, has "fallen into disgrace and has been sent to a concentration camp." "According to well informed Stockholm circles," said the Russian announcer, "Goering and Hitler violently quarrelled on the eve of the Nazi attack on Russia. Goering argued that the luftwaffe was unfit for the new campaign and refused to take responsibility for the new drive."

"Hitler became frenzied, calling Goering a coward, and declared that he himself would take over command of the air force. Disappearance of Goering's name from the German press tends to prove the veracity of the report."

"It is rumored that Heinrich Himmler (Gestapo chief) insisted that Goering be put into a concentration camp."

WARFARE IN SYRIA NEAR END

Peace Agreement To Be
Signed At Conference
In Jerusalem

NEW YORK, July 14—The British Broadcasting Company today announced an official German news agency report from Vichy stating that a Syrian armistice agreement was signed this morning, according to a New York pickup by CBS.

CAIRO, July 14—All hostilities in Syria were suspended today as British and French officials met at Acre, Jerusalem, for final consideration of armistice terms. An agreement is expected to be signed shortly. The Acre meeting was announced in a communique issued by the British middle east high command. It said there was no change in the situation in Abyssinia and Libya.

HELSEINKI—Thirty Russian planes bombed the Finnish town of Borgaa during the night, injuring several persons and damaging seven houses, according to an official announcement, which said five Russian planes were shot down.

BERLIN—Germany today officially denied Soviet charges that Reich forces have used "poisonous substances" in the Russo-German conflict. A spokesman warned, however, that employment of such measures by the Russians would bring the "sharpest counter-measures."

ITALY TO PERMIT U. S. CITIZENS RIGHT TO SAIL

ROME, July 14—A general order authorizing the ministry of the interior to grant permission for Americans to leave Italy was issued today.

It is expected that official consideration of specific cases will begin the end of this week.

Early Occupation Of Kiev, Ukraine's Chief
City, Predicted By Reich; Planes Smash

MANNERHEIM LEADS DRIVE IN NORTH

Reports From Front Indicate Moscow's
Defense Crumbling; Rookies Used

BERLIN, July 14—While military spokesmen claimed German penetration of Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, and predicted its early occupation, the Nazi high command today announced opening of a gigantic Finnish offensive on both sides of Lake Ladoga.

Personally commanded by Field Marshal Baron Carl Von Mannerheim, chief of the Finnish Defense Council, the drive was aimed at Leningrad and was designed to tie in with a German offensive against the great Russian citadel from the south.

Nazi mechanized units pushing toward Leningrad are rapidly gaining ground, military quarters said, with several main Red bunkers already destroyed.

The German advance beyond the Dnieper is proceeding on a broad front, it was said. Soviet attempts to make a last stand from trenches in the Vitebsk region were said to have been frustrated with heavy Russian losses.

The German luftwaffe inflicted extremely heavy losses on retreating defenders of the Stalin line in the Vitebsk region, it was announced. Railway establishments at Leningrad and Smolensk also were heavily bombed.

Kiev Bombarded

Military objectives at Kiev were said to be under constant heavy bombardment. Warehouses were set afire and the waterworks destroyed with direct hits, it was said.

General staff plans had called for the Finnish offensive to get under way when the German drive was sufficiently far advanced to permit Leningrad to be enclosed in the fangs of a huge pincer movement.

The Finns will handle the northern part of the claw while German troops operate east and west from the Lake Peipus region.

Except for announcing start of the Finnish offensive, the high command merely said that all operations on the eastern front were proceeding "according to plan."

But military spokesmen, resuming their practice of amplifying and explaining brief headquarters communiques, said that all reports from the front indicated that the whole gigantic Soviet army was gradually crumbling.

Raw Rookies Used

German troops are now encountering Red divisions composed of nothing more than "broken remnants", it was said. Raw rookies are making their appearance in the Soviet lines and the number of desertions is increasing steadily, spokesmen asserted.

The same symptoms that appeared before collapse of the French armies a little over a year ago are becoming evident, it was (Continued on Page Two)

40,000 WILL GO BACK TO PLACES IN TWO PLANTS

DETROIT, July 14—Approximately 40,000 employees of the Briggs Manufacturing Co. and the Chrysler Corporation return to work today and tomorrow after a UAW-CIO local ratified an agreement ending a strike at the National Automotive Fibres Co.

The Briggs and Chrysler workers were sent home last week because of a shortage of upholstery from the strike bound fibres plant.

The agreement reportedly provided for a blanket 13-cent hourly pay raise for 600 male employees and a flat wage hike of eight cents an hour for 450 women employees of the Fibres Company.

DAYLIGHT RAID STRIKES FRANCE

British Planes Stage Big
Offensive; Night Attack
Reported Heavy

LONDON, July 14—RAF planes made a daylight sweep over northern France today, destroying two German fighters, after carrying out a widespread assault on Germany and Nazi-occupied territory during the night.

The Air Ministry announced that industrial targets, especially at Bremen and Vegesack, Amsterdam and Ostend were bombed last night and that fires were started in oil storage tanks at Rotterdam.

Fighting planes also attacked airdromes in northern France during the night. One British bomber was lost.

While the British night raids were in progress, Nazi raiders bombed sections of Britain.

According to the Air Ministry, two of the German planes that raided Britain were shot down.

The Nazis dropped bombs on towns along the south coast, the southeast coast and in the eastern midlands early this morning.

(A Berlin announcement said "minor" RAF formations bombed several places, causing "insignificant damage to residential sections." One British plane was said to have been shot down.)

BRITISH LABOR LEADER CLAIMS WAR AMERICA'S

BOSTON, July 14—Col. Josiah C. Wedgwood, Laborite leader of the British Parliament, today was on record with the declaration that "this is your war" and the companion observation that "the trouble with you Americans is that you're afraid to assume responsibility."

Colonel Wedgwood added: "Your President has assumed a large share of responsibility, it is true, but why haven't you got a sensible Congress?"

Colonel Wedgwood also said that the American people are now in the war "up to your necks" and, predicting assumption of post-war leadership by the United States, he added:

"Because of your traditions of freedom you should be the one to plan for the future of a free world. We in England are mere children in comparison to you in the matter of freedom."

BRITISH DEFIANT OF LUFTWAFFE, LAUD AIR FORCE

Naziism To Be Torn Into Pieces, Minister Tells Defense Workers

under way against London last September.

"I must admit I feared greatly the injury to our public utility services, the ravages of fire, the displacement of life and the stoppage of work, the epidemics of serious diseases or even pestilence," he said.

"But there was one thing which I nor anyone else ever had any doubt—the courage, the unfaltering, unconquerable grit and stamina of the Londoners, which showed themselves from the very outset.

"Without that, all would have failed. Upon that rock we all stood unconquerable."

Comparing London to a "prehistoric monster into whose armored hide showers of arrows can be shot in vain," Churchill announced great strengthening of the capital's defenses and air raid shelters and defied the luftwaffe to come back in force again.

"If the lull is to end and the storm is to renew itself, London will be ready," he said.

"London will not wince. London can take it again. We ask no favors and no compassion from the enemy . . . if tonight the people of London were asked to cast their votes as to whether a convention should be entered into to stop the bombing of all cities, an overwhelming majority would cry:

"No! We will mete out to the Germans the measure and more than the measure they have meted out to us."

The prime minister gave his hearers the satisfaction of knowing that present British bombing attacks on Germany are heavier than Nazi raids and that the RAF will keep pounding until "horrible tyranny is broken down." He paid tribute to aid from the United States and said:

"We are bombing the enemy at a heavier rate, in discharge of tons of bombs, than in any monthly period the enemy bombed us."

"That is only a beginning. We shall continue the process on a growing scale until we have beaten down the horrible tyranny . . ."

"The enormous advance of the United States toward making a contribution to British resistance is thoroughly effective and was largely influenced by the conduct of Londoners in standing up against enemy bombardment . . ."

"I expect that before very long the enemy will renew his attacks on us."

ROOSEVELT AND AIDES TALK OF SOLDIERS' USE

WASHINGTON, July 14—President Roosevelt today conferred with the outstanding legislative leaders and military experts on Capitol Hill in what was expected to be the forerunner of an immediate congressional drive to extend the service of draftees beyond the one-year limit and life restrictions against sending American troops anywhere in the world.

Also at the meeting was Gen. George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, who has recommended to Secretary of War Stimson that this action be taken. Both could be accomplished by amendments to the Draft Act, which now limits service of conscripts to one year and says that army troops cannot be used outside the Western Hemisphere.

LITTLE CHATS ON PUBLIC NOTICES

REPORTS TO STOCKHOLDERS

It is common practice in business to keep the stockholders informed periodically as to the condition of the company. The reasons for this are plain: the stockholders are the owners of the business and they have a right to be kept posted on matters of common interest. No one questions this right or the soundness of the practice.

In various ways the same principle is applied to public affairs. Here it is the public generally and the voters particularly who are the "stockholders" of government in all its phases and activities.

If it is sound and necessary to acquaint the stockholders of a private business with the state of its affairs at regular intervals, it is vastly more important that the public be kept informed as to the conduct and condition of the public business. This is especially true in matters of important public trust and, in particular, where public funds are concerned.

Among the most common but important forms of official advertising in virtually all states are the fiscal reports of school boards, city, county and states treasurers, fiduciary officers, and many others. The Public Notice appearing in the newspapers is the best means of making such information a matter of wide general record. The mounting tax burden and the increasing demands upon government make it more important than ever that the statutory provisions for keeping the public informed on public business, especially finances, be fully observed.

NEW YORK — Returning the S. S. President Garfield to New York after her 14-week maiden round-the-world voyage, Captain J. E. Murphy today reported that his ship had been stopped 400 miles northeast of Honolulu by the armed Canadian cruiser Prince Robert. A boarding party removed four German aviators who were on their way home from South America.

NEW YORK—Designed to accommodate 225 passengers, the 9,500-ton Spanish liner Villa De Madrid was in New York today with 617 passengers, the majority refugees from German-occupied countries in Europe. Only two of the passengers were Americans. The vessel sailed from Barcelona June 21.

So the diplomatic luggage was put ashore, and the Yawata Maru sailed with the Nazi staterooms empty. Shortly after the vessel had passed out the Golden Gate, the delayed safe-conduct came from the British government. Then began a frantic several hours in which Wiedemann went to fantastic lengths to get on his way to the Orient.

He tried unsuccessfully to call the Yawata Maru back to port. He tried to charter an amphibian plane from Pan American Airways, but it was not available. He asked the Navy to provide a destroyer to take the Nazi party out to the Yawata, but this could not be done without authorization from Washington and considerable red tape.

He radioed the Yawata's captain, asking that the vessel (now 90 miles out) be stopped. The captain, in effect, replied: "So sorry."

Finally, he telephoned the NYK line's headquarters in Tokyo and succeeded in having the vessel stopped temporarily, but his efforts failed to locate any means of transportation out to her.

CASH SPENDING TOTAL SOARING

WASHINGTON, July 14—With nearly three months of the 1941 fiscal year gone, cash spending for national defense has neared the half billion dollar mark.

A study of treasury figures showed that since July 1 a total of $488,307,234 has been handed out for naval and military protection of the nation.

While this figure loomed small against the total of contracts awarded to provide guns, airplanes, fighting boats, etc., officials declared that it actually represents acceleration in doling out cash, and that spending volume will take bigger jumps within 60 days.

The navy is using money faster than the army for the present, the Treasury figures showed, tallying $268,358,218, compared to the army total expended for the fiscal year of $219,140,182. The remainder of the money handed out came from the special blanket fund voted President Roosevelt to distribute as he finds best in order to speed up the big defense program. Already $808,833 of this fund has been spent, while nearly $50,000,000 has been allocated to be handed out as fast as feasible to provide housing facilities for increased military forces.

Pace of Navy Spending

Navy spending has hit a pace of approximately $125,000,000 a month, as of latest figures, while army spending has climbed to an estimated $100,000,000 monthly. During September, the navy spent $62,430,659, and the army $48,524,833.

Defense spending, the figures disclosed, is already running about twice the normal peacetime rate. Last year on this date the navy had actually spent $158,795,957 for the fiscal year, the army $121,844,238.

For the present, defense spending is carried in the general Treasury statement and consequently figures in the current public debt of $44,061,821,728, but later will be carried separately. The public debt is approaching the limit provided by law for general indebtedness, and were the military spending carried in the general statement in the future, the debt limit would be reached.

Treasury officials said that when it was necessary to utilize the special $4,000,000,000 additional of public debt permitted by Congress specifically for national defense, military spending would be allocated to this category. This action would of course, remove defense spending from the general public debt figure and give more borrowing leeway for non-defense expenditures.

The public debt limit is $45,000,000,000 for general spending, but it is $49,000,000,000 when the special $4,000,000,000 additional borrowing power authorized by Congress for defense is included.

STRONGEST MAN DIES

NEW YORK, July 14—Warren L. Travis, 66, who for 26 years went under the circus billing as the "world's strongest man," was dead today. He collapsed and died early yesterday at the conclusion of his regular weight-lifting show at Coney Island.

said, Marshal Semeon Timoshenko, Soviet chief of staff, yesterday issued an order of the day threatening imposition of the death sentence on any Red soldier retreating in the face of the enemy. This order, German sources said, recalled the despairing last order of French General Maxime Weygand to "hold or die."

Red tanks captured during the last 48 hours were operated by untrained crews, it was said, while in the area south of Leningrad parachute units, trained for highly specialized work, were found assigned to ground fighting.

Persistent reports in Berlin that the Stalin regime had abandoned Moscow for Ekaterinberg in the Ukraine were revived, with additional rumors that all "left-overs" of the government had left the capital for safety in the Urals. Foreign diplomats still in Moscow were reported summoned to the Kremlin and advised to depart.

German "blitz" troops are storming after the retreating Russian army forces like a "raging gale," one spokesman asserted.

The Russians, according to a spokesman, are being lashed into a complete route by the German forces moving against Moscow.

On the Ukraine front, it was asserted, Kiev was entered this morning and "probably will be occupied tonight."

Russians Report Heavy Raids On Romanian Cities

MOSCOW, July 14—Heavy blows by the Red air force during the night were announced by the Soviet high command today in a communique which told of bombing attacks on the Romanian cities of Jassy, Roman and Ploesti.

The new announcement said no large-scale land operations occurred during the night.

"The air force during the night continued its destructive operations against enemy aircraft and airdromes, inflicted blows against motorized units of the enemy and bombed Jassy, Roman and Ploesti. 'Yesterday 94 enemy planes and 12 Soviet planes were destroyed.' The figure of 94 German planes destroyed yesterday revised a previous announcement which said 131 German planes were shot down or destroyed on the ground during Sunday's operations.

Spurred by the new Anglo-Russian military alliance, Soviet forces were said by the earlier communique to have halted and at some places thrown back massive German offensives against Leningrad, Moscow and Kiev.

Heroism Praised

The official Moscow radio paid tribute to the heroism and gallantry of the British people and their armed forces by saying:

"There is no doubt that the united effort of two great people will put an end to Fascism which has sowed war and death throughout the world."

"The U. S. S. R. unanimously welcomes the Anglo-Soviet agreement."

On the central front, a war communique said, the Soviets recaptured two towns—Jobin and Rogatshev—which had been overrun by the German invaders.

On the northern Pskov sector of the Stalin line, the communique stated, German tank and motorized forces attempting to break through to Leningrad were "held up" and "in places repulsed" with heavy losses to German soldiers and equipment.

Russian tank counter-attacks and artillery fire, supported by continuous aerial bombardments, were said to have shattered the Nazi drives in the Vitebsk region toward Moscow and in the Novograd Volinsk area toward Kiev.

STOPS PUBLICATION

SAN FRANCISCO—Bowing to changes in public tastes and declining revenues, the historic old weekly, "The News Letter and Wasp," has discontinued publication after 85 years. Early writings of such famous literary figures as Jack London, Mark Twain, Ambrose Bierce, Bret Harte, Frank Norris, Wallace Irwin and Gertrude Atherton first appeared on its pages.

1,000 LIMA, O. CIGAR MAKERS GO ON STRIKE

LIMA, O., July 14—A strike of approximately 1,300 employees of the Deisel-Wemmer-Gilbert Cigar Company's Lima factory was called today by a CIO union which said negotiations for collective bargaining had broken down. Union spokesmen said the walkout also would affect the company's Detroit factory.

The workers were called from their machines at 8:30 a. m., by Samuel Runyan, organizer for the United Electric, Radio and Machine Workers of America.

Ten days ago the cigar machine workers were called out but returned to work after about two hours.

SECOND DRAFT LOTTERY SET FOR THURSDAY

Sequence Numbers Will Be Assigned To 40,511 Ohio Youths Of 21

GOBLE EXPLAINS PLAN

New Registrants May Get Early Service Under Federal Plan

Sequence numbers for 40,511 young men who registered in Ohio July 1 will be drawn in the Second National Selective Service Lottery to be held in Washington, D. C., Thursday evening, July 17.

The sequence numbers will determine the order in which these new registrants will be integrated among the old registrants who have order numbers larger than the last selectee of their local board who was involuntarily inducted before midnight, June 30.

"For an example," Director C. W. Goble of State Selective Service said, "if a local board should happen to have 10 new registrants and 100 old registrants on its list whose order numbers follow that of the last involuntary inductee as of midnight June 30, then one new registrant would be placed after each group of 10 old registrants."

Any induction made after midnight June 30, will be ignored in the integration of new registrants among old cases, the director stated.

Lottery Starts At 7

The lottery, which will determine the sequence in which new registrants will be integrated among old ones, will be held in Departmental Auditorium, Washington, D. C., at 7 p. m. Thursday.

A set of serial numbers, each preceded by the letter "S", from "S-1" to include the largest number used by any local board in the country in assigning serial numbers to July 1st registrants, will be drawn by lots. Approximately 800 numbers will be drawn, according to the information given Ohio headquarters.

The serial numbers in the order they are drawn in the lottery will constitute a master list to be used by local boards in assigning "Sequence Numbers" to their July 1st registrants, in this manner:

The registrant in each local board area whose serial number first appears on this second master list will be given "Sequence Number 1" in his area; the registrant whose serial number is next closest to the top will receive "Sequence Number 2," and so on until each July 1st registrant has a sequence number.

As was the procedure in connection with the previous national lottery in October, 1940, local boards will cross off on the second master list and ignore those serial numbers that are not held by any registrant in their areas.

Explanation Given

When sequence numbers have been assigned to all new registrants, the local boards will assign each of these registrants an order number to be determined by integrating them among the old registrants. This means that the new registrant with Sequence No. 1 in his local board area will receive the lowest order number assigned to his group, and the registrant with the largest sequence number will receive the highest order number for the same group.

IMMELL LEADS AAA WILL HEAR MOVE FOR LAKE QUOTA PROTEST

400 Acre Recreation Spot Near Yellowbud Urged By Sportsman

A plan to turn 400 acres of farm lowland near Yellowbud into a lake for Pickaway and Ross County sportsmen is being considered by sportsmen in both counties. The plan has been submitted to state conservation officials for investigation.

The plan presented to the Ross County Conservation Council last week by Robert Immell of Yellowbud, calls for flooding of 400 acres of lowland surrounded by a ridge of hills.

Mr. Immell told Ross County sportsmen that little construction would be required after a 140-yard levee across Yellowbud Creek had been built. Cost of the project has been estimated at $80,000, of which $50,000 would be spent for the purchase of the land.

In case the plan is adopted, the lake will be named Lake Rausenberger, in honor of the late E. H. Rausenberger of Circleville, widely known sportsman as a member of the Ohio Conservation League, the League of Ohio Sportsmen and the American Crow Hunters Association. At the time of his death, Mr. Rausenberger willed an $80,000 trust fund to the State Conservation Commission and sportsmen hope a part of this fund may be obtained for the project.

The plan has not been officially presented to the Pickaway County Farmers' and Sportsmen's Association, although many of the members have reported favorably on the idea.

James L. Groce Wins Sergeant's Rank At Fort Ord

James L. Groce, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Groce, 447 East Main Street, has completed his first year in Uncle Sam's Air Corps, being located at Fort Ord, Monterey, California. During his year he has gained much air corps experience and has won promotion to the rank of sergeant.

He has informed his parents that his first vacation will be during the Christmas holidays when a month's furlough will permit him to return home for a while.

Men who have satisfactorily served three or more years in the Regular Navy, Marine Corps or Coast Guard, are not liable for Selective Service training, it was pointed out Monday by Lieut. Col. C. W. Goble, state Selective Service director.

He cited a recent amendment to the Selective Training and Service Act, which also exempts, under certain conditions, men who have satisfactorily served in reserve components of these branches of the nation's armed forces. The original Selective Training and Service Act provided such exemption only for men who have served in the Regular Army, National Guard or Reserve Corps, the director explained, and a number of registrants who now are exempted by the amendment have been inducted into the Army. These men, he said, may be discharged on application made through their company commanders to the Adjutant General's Office of the War Department.

Byron Gulick, of Ashville, who has been at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Beckett for the last several days on a furlough from Camp Shelby, Miss., says that his work is mostly mechanical, being employed in a garage, it being his duty to keep big trucks in operating order. Gulick has no complaint to make about living quarters and food. The outfit's cook, who is from Dayton, is a full-blooded Indian, and a past master at the culinary art. WINGS OVER THE WORLD

MANY people wondered if the President had lost his mind when, last year, he called for 30,000 army planes. It was argued that so vast an air armament couldn't be produced or used. But events and compulsions have moved fast, and the impossible is accomplished and new impossibilities are tackled.

So now the airplane industry in this country is asked to turn out airplane motors at the rate of 150,000 a year. It will probably be done, too. That doesn't mean 150,000 airplanes a year, but 50,000 new planes with three motors for each.

More and more rapidly armies now take to the air. They supplant not only land forces but sea forces. Ships are sunk more and more by air bombers. This may soon be the dominant mode of fighting, with land forces used for occupation when hostile ships and armies have been blasted out of the way.

FRIENDLY FLAGS

THE British people this year celebrated the Fourth of July along with Americans. In England and the dominions there were thousands of American flags flown. In the heart of London the Stars and Stripes were raised with the British Union Jack.

Lord Beaverbrook, who beside helping to run the war is editor of the London Express, made this statement: "We have made up our minds that after tomorrow every one of our readers is going to know just what American Independence Day means. We are running a story about it on Page 1 together with a big American flag."

We can't quite get used to the idea, but it's decent of them. And it does seem to bring more reality into the movement, urged by many people in both countries, for closer union of some kind after the war.

ALASKA ROAD

SOME people are getting excited about that proposed road from Puget Sound to Alaska. Especially Anthony J. Dimond, Alaska delegate in Congress. It isn't merely a matter of interest to the Alaskans, either. We have established big army and navy bases in that Territory, outposts guarding our continent against possible assaults from Asia. That might mean either Japan or Russia, according to time and circumstance, though at present there is no worry about Russia.

The trouble is that the highway has to be built on Canadian soil, and the Dominion, while apparently agreeing in principle, is slow about starting. That is understandable. Canada is making a huge war effort in Europe. Even so, it would be reassuring to both Canada and the States to get the job started.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

JOHN LEWIS SEEKING RETURN

WASHINGTON—More than one CIO leader who attended the so-called special legislative conference last week left Washington convinced that its real purpose was to trot out a trial balloon for the return of John L. Lewis as CIO president.

The political undertones of the pow-wow were as thick as molasses. Lewis' "palace guard" of left-wingers were in complete charge of all the arrangements. Prominent among those present were the heads of CIO Industrial Union Councils, many of them—leftists and the backbone of Lewis' political support in the CIO.

Significantly, although the "palace guard" put on an extra crew to handle publicity for the meeting, no list of those attending was issued. Such a list would have shown a predominance of leftist elements present.

Throughout the meeting, Lewis acted like a man whose hat was in the ring. He made a speech that was purely political and slapped backs in the best campaign manner.

If Lewis is out for the presidency, it is certain that Phil Murray will be the first to make way for him. No CIO leader has any doubt that Murray would withdraw at the drop of the hat. Lewis wouldn't even have to ask him.

TWO SPEECHES

Murray also made a speech, and the contrast between his and Lewis' was startling.

Lewis delivered a rabble-rousing harangue in his heaviest Shakespearean manner. Rumbling exclamations and with basso profundo theatricals, he blasted Roosevelt for "anti-union" legislation, scorched OPM Associate Director Sidney Hillman as a "strike breaker," hit Will Davis, chairman of the Defense Mediation Board which sided with the United Miners in the recent wage dispute, and inferentially threatened the Garment Workers, Textile Workers, and Rubber Workers, which have militantly supported the President, with ouster from the CIO.

Chairman Davis has evidently joined Roosevelt and Hillman on Lewis' pet hate list. And when "Old Bushybro" hates, he hates.

The diatribe drew a noisy ovation, led by Mike Quill, leftist head of the Transport Workers, and the "palace guard." But it also brought swift and sizzling counterblasts from J. S. Potofsky of the Garment Workers, R. J. Thomas and Richard Frankenstein of the Auto Workers, and S. H. Dalrymple of the Rubber Workers. Potofsky made Lewis back down on Hillman to the extent of explaining that he had nothing against him personally but had criticized him in the role of a public official.

Murray's speech was in a wholly different vein from Lewis'. There were no dramatics, personalities, or threats. He discussed the need for more active labor representation in defense leadership and his plan for getting it. The talk was dignified and statesmanlike, and was given a cordial hand. But Quill and the "palace guard" remained in their seats and did no whooping up.

DIET AND HEALTH

Safer To Reduce Slowly

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Several of my female acquaintances have asked me my opinion of the Harper's Bazaar Nine-Day Wonder Diet revised by Elinor Guthrie Neff. As I analyze it, these are the conclusions.

For breakfast there is always every day half a grapefruit and a cup of black coffee. The grapefruit is at least 150 calories and the coffee none.

At lunch there are two tomatoes (about 25 calories apiece), and a chicken sandwich on rye bread with no butter (about 150 calories).

For dinner there is a good-sized steak; how many calories that is, is hard to say because the amount of the steak and especially the amount of fat is not specified. Nothing is said about removing the fat on the steak, which should be done for a real reducing diet. But the steak is at least 150 calories. Besides the steak, you get a stalk of celery (5 calories), tomato and endive salad with no dressing (25 calories) and another half grapefruit (50 calories).

The day's total is 480 calories which should reduce anyone. A reducing diet of 1000 calories a day is in my opinion safer. I don't think anyone should go for any length of time on reducing diets of 300 to 500 calories.

Short Reducing Period

Furthermore, nine days seems to me too short for satisfactory and healthy reduction. It has been proved that when caloric intake is suddenly reduced, one does not lose weight gradually; the weight may remain the same for a week or more, and then there is a sudden water loss and a good deal of weight is lost in one day. That is why I prefer a three-week's period or a forty-day Lenten period.

The authors of the nine-day wonder-diet say that meat is the magic that does it. While eating meat you will never feel weak, so they say. The high protein steps up the body metabolism and burns up fat. Of course it is perfectly true that meat has what is called high specific dynamic energy in body economy, but whether it burns fat or not is another question. Meat, however, was the staple of the Hollywood diet, popular a few years ago.

Well Distributed Vitamins

The diet contains vitamins well distributed, which is a fundamental requirement of any diet. There is Vitamin A in carrots, B in eggs and rye bread, C in tomatoes and grapefruit, D in cheese (?), E in lettuce. Meat itself must have a lot of vitamins, even some we don't know about yet.

I think the diet could justly be criticized on the basis of monotony. Grapefruit and coffee every day for breakfast—a resourceful housekeeper could think of something else than that. And in the first day's diet which I outlined above there was grapefruit also for dessert for dinner, and two tomatoes for lunch and one in the salad for dinner. That is plunging pretty hard on grapefruit and tomatoes.

However these are minor matters and easy to fix. Substitute any citrus fruit for grapefruit and any green vegetable for the tomato and it works just as well. The nine-day wonder-diet will certainly reduce you provided you follow it to the letter.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. D. B.: "I notice that whenever my baby (a little over a month old) cries very hard for a while she spits up her milk. Why does she do this?"

Answer: Regurgitation has practically a 100 per cent incidence with babies. They all do some of it. The crying is accompanied by contractions of the diaphragm which press the milk out of the stomach into the throat. It is not doing any harm if the baby is gaining weight.

CONTRACT BRIDGE

THE BACKWARD FINESSE

THERE ARE a few combinations of the cards which do not furnish a chance to make any of the ordinary finesses, but can produce a promoted trick anyway by playing them in a special way. By leading an intermediate honor, prepared to let it go through and win if it is not covered, you go up with a higher honor in the opposite hand if it is covered. Then on the way back you finesse between the remaining top and the card two steps lower against the missing honor.

Pretty thin bidding, that, by everybody concerned, yet South could have made his overbid game, and it was too bad to see him miss it. West led his club 7 to the K, on which South put the Q, and he then returned the 8 to the J. Next South led his diamond 2 to the Q and K and returned the diamond 5, playing low and letting the A win. West offered his last club, East taking two tricks with his 9 and A, on which South discarded a spade and a heart, beating himself. East's return was a diamond to the J. South then led the spade Q to the K and A, leaving the J high, so came to his hand with the heart K, took two diamonds and the heart A, then gave up the last trick, being down one.

When the last two clubs were scored, South should have tossed two spades to keep his hearts. Even if East then returned a spade to the A, the diamond J would have been an entry to his own hand. Then he could have made a backward finesse, leading the heart J. If West covered, he could have returned the 8 to the 9, finessing against the 10. That would have given him three tricks in hearts, four in diamonds and one each in the black suits. The heart Q was marked with West, who otherwise could not have had even a thin opening, and a guess for the 10 in East's hand offered the only likely chance for a game.

CHAPTER FORTY-FIVE

"KING DOESN'T like me," Henry reminded his fellow conspirator. "He'll think it strange, my forcing a visit on him tonight. Maybe he won't let me in."

"That's the argument that ought to win an audience with him," Spinelli declared. "Tell him he hasn't any grounds for suspecting you of murder. Tell him that's why you're coming to him—to convince him you're innocent. Argue with him. Keep him busy."

"And what will you be doing?" "I'm going to look for Mrs. Willett's father—and see if he has any other gun traps around the place."

"Mrs. Willett's father? Gun traps?"

"He answers every description but one. He'd have a shotgun for rabbits, being a gardener. He is a small man, lighter than you are, but he is strong and active. He would be the logical one to have seen your signal light shining up out of the well. He is, as Laurence put it, dumb."

Henry protested, "But he wasn't at the meeting the night Ives was killed!"

Spinelli halted as they came to the gate of the banker's estate. "You go ahead. I'll cut around to the rear."

Henry walked on alone, wishing he'd never come. He imagined the old man behind every dark bush crowding the curved driveway. The gravel rattled under his feet. To attract less attention he walked in the middle of the road where there was short grass.

The huge house was dark except for a dim light toward the rear. Henry mounted the front steps, his heart pounding as though he had been running. He lifted the big brass knocker and let it drop.

Footsteps sounded inside. A light glowed in the transom, but the door did not open. "Who's there?" demanded the muffled voice of Stanley King.

"It's just me—Henry Potter."

"Henry Potter?" The banker's cry was almost a scream. "I knew it! You're the killer! Get out of here!"

"I'm no killer, Mr. King. You ought to know that. I came to ask you why you suspect me."

"Get out! I have a gun. I'll get you first!"

Henry swallowed. "I—I don't have a gun. Don't be afraid of me—please don't!"

"I'm not afraid of you—you little rat—now I know who you are!"

Henry retreated backward down the steps. He waited there, wondering what he should do next, ready to run if King opened the door.

The blast of a gun went off around the corner of the house. Henry instinctively dropped to the ground. Stanley King screamed as though shot.

The door flew open. King ran out. He didn't see Henry, almost collided with him in flight. The big man was wearing a bathrobe and slippers. He vanished into the blackness of the garden like a witch.

Framed in the doorway, looking out, was Spinelli, a weird figure with his stiff, bandaged neck. He held a revolver in his hand.

Henry drew a sharp breath that was painful in his tight throat. He breathed to himself, "Spinelli's the murderer! He sneaked around behind King while I held his attention!"

"Hullo there!" called Spinelli. "I say, Mr. King, nobody's trying to shoot you! That was an accident."

Henry lifted himself to his hands and knees. Spinelli saw him.

"That man's crazy!" Spinelli declared, coming down the steps. "Crazy with fear. He thought you crept around to the side window and took a shot at him."

"Who—who shot?" Henry was trembling. He wanted to run, but his legs wouldn't obey him.

"No one. It was another of those gun traps—set this afternoon after the sheriff was here. I went to look in through a window to see if the old man was inside the house, and it almost got me. I half suspected it would be there, and I was careful to keep my hands well in front of me to trip it before I got in the line of fire."

"You—you thought it would be there?"

"Certainly. That's what the other trap was for—to keep someone from getting into the house—not to kill Stanley King. It was set for the murderer."

"Oh! And the man who set it was Mrs. Willett's father?"

"Right. It wasn't King, or he would have known what went off. The only other one who could have fixed the gun since the sheriff was here was the old man."

"But if he set the trap for the murderer, he isn't the murderer!"

"I never said he was. Come on, let's find him. That shot will bring him from wherever he is."

They tiptoed to the corner of the house and waited, but no one appeared, and the gardens were dark and silent.

"He heard us talking," Henry whispered.

"Perhaps so. Let's look down by the garage. I think he sleeps in a room at the rear."

They parted the bushes and crossed the lawn. There was enough starlight to show the way. Henry wondered if there would be a gun trap at the garage.

Gravel crunched under their feet again as they passed the boundary of the lawn. The small garage building was almost buried in the blackness of the trees that sheltered it.

"Not a light," observed Henry. Spinelli grasped him by an arm. "Sh! Listen!"

The mumble of a voice reached their ears, faint and unnatural in its tone. One man was talking—talking continuously and in a monotone—inside the garage.

Goose flesh crept over Henry. He whispered in Spinelli's ear, "He's really crazy by now!"

"That's not King's voice. And it's not the voice of the old man either."

Henry didn't want to walk closer, but he didn't want to be left behind, either. He followed Spinelli to the open door of the garage, trying to be silent. The voice grew louder.

"It's a radio," Spinelli said. "Someone left the radio turned on in his car."

"But there's no car here!"

"Then it's the radio in the old man's room in back of the garage. Listen! What's it saying?"

"Attention all cars! Attention all police and sheriff's officers. Henry Potter, in custody on suspicion of murder of John Ives, has escaped. He is believed to be on foot. He has no car, but may steal one. He was reported five minutes ago at the Stanley King estate. Attention cars 1 and 2. Search for him there. He may be armed and dangerous. That is all."

WORLD AT A GLANCE

—By—

NOW, congress is asking (not in its official capacity but in the course of cloakroom speculation), will we establish Azores and Cape Verde island bases?

There's been more talk of it than there was of Iceland occupation. Our Icelandward move took most of the lawmakers by surprise.

An American landing on the Azores and Cape Verdes wouldn't catch 'em off guard as much as Iceland did. Even Iceland, for that matter, was no unexpected jolt to Senator Burton K. Wheeler. Several days before President Roosevelt announced his action as commander in chief of the United States navy, Burt had told his fellow senators he'd had a confidential tip that some such development was coming. They generally thought, however, that his violent isolationism made him subject to that kind of hallucinations, and paid little attention to him. It seems his sources of information are more reliable than they supposed 'em to be.

Incidentally, the British newspapers are howling that the senator never ought to have given out the item in advance of the presidential announcement and Prime Minister Churchill said as much in a note to President Roosevelt; it might have served as a warning to Herr Hitler, perhaps making it a lot more difficult to put the plan into execution. But what Burt Wheeler cares for the British press' criticism of him would be nothing to write home about.

A Yankee occupation of the Azores and Cape Verdes certainly would precipitate a worse screech than the Iceland one.

Iceland was perfectly willing to be Americanly occupied and protected. Indeed, its prime minister, Hermann Jonasson, virtually invited it, upon certain conditions which President Roosevelt agreed to.

ICELAND DIFFERENT

Denmark may object, or pretend to do so, under pressure from Berlin, but Denmark isn't entitled to speak for Iceland. The Icelanders aren't Danish subjects. They're independent. Greenland's different. That's a Danish possession.

When the Germans having overrun Denmark, State Secretary Hull arranged with Henrik de Kauffmann, Danish minister in Washington, for an American protectorate over the Greenlanders, the Copenhagen government repudiated (doubtless at Herr Hitler's dictation) the bargain its Washington representative had entered into. True, we entirely disregarded this repudiation, went right ahead and proceeded to protect Greenland. Still, technically Greenland is Denmark's. Iceland isn't. It and Denmark are two distinct countries. It happens that the same individual is king of both of 'em, but they're separate kingdoms. In his Icelandic kingly capacity, this chap's a mere figurehead. The local boss is Prime Minister Jonasson. What he says for Iceland goes, legally.

The Azores and Cape Verde islands are like Greenland—out-and-out possessions of a home country. In their case it's Portugal.

In the present world situation, with two or three lawless dictators grabbing everything they can get their claws on, I don't question that a weak little country like Portugal would be glad to have a big, strong, friendly power protecting its islands. But, same as Denmark, it simply would have to screech its head off, under the dictators' orders, in opposition to anything of the sort.

Jane P. Thomas Becomes Richard Plum's Bride

Cincinnati Church Scene Of Nuptial Vows

Gowned in her oldest sister's wedding dress of white satin, Miss Jane Pauline Thomas of Cincinnati became the bride of Mr. Richard E. Plum, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Plum of North Court Street.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul B. Thomas of 3639 Reading Road, Cincinnati. The ceremony was performed at 7:30 p. m. Saturday, July 12, in the First United Church, Reading Road and Lee Place, Cincinnati. The Rev. G. B. Rich read the single ring service.

Tall white candles in cathedral candelabra lighted the altar banked with palms and baskets of white gladioli.

The organ recital of wedding music included "Oh, Promise Me," "I Love You Truly," "At Dawning," "Ave Maria" and "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life."

The bride's gown was fashioned on traditional lines, the real lace at the neck having been used first on her grandmother's wedding dress. The finger-tip veil of bridal illusion, fell from a halo of gardenias and lilies-of-the-valley. White gladioli and lilies were used in her bouquet.

Miss Jean Theobald of Washington C. H., formerly of Circleville, was maid-of-honor at the wedding. Pink bows trimmed the full skirt of her quaint blue mousseline de soie gown. She wore a necklace of pearls and carried a colonial bouquet.

Miss Mary Helen Stokes of Cincinnati wore an identical outfit of pink as she served as bridesmaid for Miss Thomas.

Mr. Charles W. Plum of New York City served as best man for his brother.

Mr. Edward Haber of Dayton, Mr. Stanley Ogden and Mr. Edward Daley of Fort Knox, Ky., were ushers at the wedding.

The bridal party, close friends and relatives were entertained at an informal reception in the church parlors after the ceremony. Mrs. Thomas, mother of the bride, wore a blue crepe dinner dress with a corsage of pink rose buds.

A three-tier wedding cake with a miniature bride and bridegroom on the top was on the bride's table which was centered with a lovely arrangement of white gladioli.

A white linen frock, trimmed with rust and green, was worn with white accessories by the bride when the new Mr. and Mrs. Plum left for a short wedding trip. They plan to establish their home in Cincinnati.

The bride is a graduate of Withrow High School, Cincinnati, and of Miami University, Oxford, where she became a member of Delta Gamma, national sorority.

After graduating from Circleville High School and Miami University, Mr. Plum became associated with his father in the insurance business in Circleville. He is now in service at Fort Knox, Ky.

Circleville guests at the wedding were Mr. H. W. Plum, father of the bridegroom; Mrs. Ned Plum, his sister-in-law, and Mr. and Mrs. Ned Harden. Other guests included Mr. and Mrs. Charles Plum, New York City; Mrs. Martin Cromley and Miss Eliza Plum of Ashville.

Golden Wedding
Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Brobst of South Pickaway Street, who will observe their Golden Wedding anniversary Wednesday, July 16, were honored at a family dinner Sunday at their home.

The guests included relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Brobst, and Miss Daisy Murray of East High Street who had been a guest at their wedding 50 years ago.

A beautifully decorated anniversary cake, a gift to Mr. and Mrs. Brobst, centered the table which had twin bouquets of flowers at either end.

Covers were placed for Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rector, Mrs. Marjorie Rector of Columbus; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Edwards of London; Mr. and Mrs. Mark Rector and Mrs. Wilda Rector of West Jefferson; Mrs. Fanny Nothstine Rector of Walnut Township, of the family of Mrs. Brobst; Mrs. Minerva Price and Miss Mary Brobst of Circleville, sisters of Mr. Brobst; Mr. and Mrs. Floy Brobst, Miss Mary Brobst, Paul Brobst, Mr. and Mrs.

Marriage Announced

Mrs. Eltha Brown of 514 South Scioto Street announces the marriage of her daughter, Virginia Lee, to Mr. George Kimes. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Andrew Douglas of the Methodist Church of Toledo who read the service June 17, 1941.

The bride is a graduate of Circleville High School in the class of 1938. For the last year she has been employed as a stenographer by Dr. Lake Polan and Dr. Albert Polan of Huntington, W. Va.

Designed for Loafing

The slacks suit sketched at left has navy blue slacks and white mess jacket in Palm Beach cloth, a shirt in red and white striped cotton.

SMART gals have borrowed another trick from the lordly males. This time it's the Palm Beach suit.

Those of you who have admired the faultless tailoring and the well-pressed look of men's Summer suits need sigh no more. You may have the very same cool but sturdy fabric made up in your own Summer suits and slacks.

The vogue for men's wear fabrics goes on apace chiefly because they tailor so beautifully and don't have to be pressed every time you turn around. Women have discovered these comforting qualities in their fall and winter suits. Now they may enjoy that same crisp tailoring all the year round.

The new Palm Beach slacks and suits are the last word in well-groomed Summer comfort. They come in all the colors and patterns shown in men's suits, are light, washable, cool and wrinkle-resistant.

PICKAWAY CLUB SQUAD WINNER

Golfers Defeat Lancaster 29-13 in Match Played On Loser's Course

Pickaway Country Club golfers had a comparatively easy time Sunday afternoon in defeating the Lancaster team, 29-13, on the beautiful Fairfield County course.

Out of 14 matches played the local club won nine, tied one and lost four.

Best medal score of the day was carded by Don Stemble, Lancaster pro, who hit 36-39-75. Dean Brooks and Bob Friece, local amateurs, scored 39-38, 77 and 88-40, 78, respectively, to top all other golfers in the contest.

The Lancaster team will invade the Pickaway Country Club course next Sunday afternoon.

Ghezzi Overcomes Long Lead to Defeat Nelson

By Harold Heroux

DENVER, July 14—Meet the new "Mr. Big" of America's 2,000-odd professional golfers—Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J.

He's tall, dark and handsome—and a bachelor — which makes him quite a standout with the ladies. And he's quite a shotmaker, with plenty of courage, and that makes him an "all right guy" with the males, too.

Some 5,000 fans trailed Ghezzi yesterday and saw him accomplish the "impossible" by overcoming a three-up lead held by the great Byron Nelson in the home stretch, and then go on to take Nelson's highly-prized P.G.A. crown on the 38th hole, one up.

He was a 3 to 1 underdog in his match with Nelson, who had lost only three out of 25 P.G.A. matches in recent years. And when the pro's own "world series" opened last week you could have wagered one hat against fourteen if you thought the 29-year-old Latin-American ace would be "Mr. Big" today.

Few people are collecting those fourteen bonnets today, however. Ghezzi had never gotten beyond the third round of a P.G.A. tournament in nine years of persistent attempts. At the close of 1940, he was ranked No. 12 in the pro's own rankings, behind the big money winners—Ben Hogan, Sam Snead, Nelson, Jimmy Demaret, Dick Metz, Ralph Guldahl, Craig Wood, Horton Smith, Harold Mader, Spaden, Jimmy Hines and Gene Sarazen, all of whom were entrants at Denver's Cherry Hills course.

Lucky in Draw

The luck of the draw smiled on Ghezzi. He got into the "easy bracket" and had only one big-name golfer to beat—Jimmy Hines—before he reached the finals. His other victims were Joe Pezzullo, Augie Nordone, Jack Groat and the promising newcomer, Lloyd Mangrum.

Nelson, on the other hand, had to polish off Guldahl, Hogan and Sarazen, in a row, in the climactic rounds, to get to the finals. Bunny Torpey and Bill Heinlein were his early victims.

Experts and fans alike figured Nelson, the defending champion, could beat the erstwhile No. 12 man in the finals. But they overlooked Ghezzi's "never-say-die" spirit.

The "beaten" Ghezzi won the 28th, 29th and 30th holes yesterday to wipe out Nelson's three-stroke lead at the three-quarter turn. He went into the lead at the 33rd, but Nelson squared the match on the 35th. The 36th and last regularly scheduled hole was split, after Ghezzi missed a four-foot putt for a win.

The first extra hole was divided. Then came the 38th, the pay-off hole, as it developed. Both Nelson and Ghezzi were on the green in three with great chip shots. The officials measured to see which player was furthest from the cup, but the tape measure said each was exactly four feet away. They tossed to see who should putt first. Dame fortune ruled that Nelson must putt.

The officials measured to see which player was furthest from the cup, but the tape measure said each was exactly four feet away. They tossed to see who should putt first. Dame fortune ruled that Nelson must putt.

Nelson moved in to putt and a bit of controversy among the officials developed. The heel of Nelson's shoe accidentally touched Ghezzi's ball and this brought up the question of whether he should lose the hole on a technicality. Another officials' huddle was called.

It was ruled that Ghezzi's ball interfered with Nelson's stance, and it could be removed momentarily from the green without penalty.

Nelson putted and missed. Ghezzi putted and his ball slid in the "side-door" of the cup to win the hole, the match and the championship.

In losing, Nelson once more fell before his own "jinx," in addition to Ghezzi's inspired golf. He has won all the big titles—the National Open, the P.G.A., the Augusta Masters and many others—but never once has he been able to repeat, to retain or regain any of them.

HEROES AND GOATS

Heroes—Elmer Riddle, who won his 10th straight game for the Cincinnati Reds in the opener against the Braves and Max West, whose ninth inning two-run double gave the Braves the nightcap; Joe DiMaggio, who hit safely in his 52nd and 53rd straight games and Red Ruffing, who allowed only three hits in 11 innings as the Yankees beat the White Sox twice. Ken Heintzleman, of the Pirates, who shutout the Giants with two hits.

Goats—Jim Tabor, whose error enabled the Indians to win the nightcap and thus sweep a twin bill with the Red Sox; Harold Newhouser, who had the A's stopped for the Tigers, but suddenly weakened and was chased as the A's went on to victory; Thornton Lee, who pitched six-hit ball for 11 innings only to lose for the White Sox against the Yankees.
